Capitol Hill Endorses Nixon Message Goals

Big Red One Comes Home By April 15

SAIGON (AP) — Allied headquarters today reported small skirmishes from the Mekong Delta to the Cambodian border north of Saigon and said two U.S. helicopters were shot down and 71 North Vietnamese or Viet Cong soldiers were killed.

One American was killed and 12 were wounded in the ground fighting. All of the casualties were in the 1st Infantry Division, which is leaving Vietnam by April 15 after 4½ years of the war. It was the first Army division sent to Vietnam.

Three South Vietnamese were reported killed in the ground fighting and 11 wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported that North Vietnamese gunners pumped more than 100 rounds of rockets and mortars into a government patrol near the Cambodian border. Field reports said that despite the heavy barrage, only two soldiers were wounded.

American B52 bombers concentrated on the Mekong Delta, where a buildup of North Vietnamese troops has been reported. Two waves of the big bombers dropped 300 tons of explosives in the U Minh Forest, a major enemy base in the southern delta 145 miles southwest of Saigon.

The Viet Cong radio announced that Huynh Thien Tu, a member of the National Liberation Front's central committee, was killed last week during an American bombing attack.

The broadcast said he was the front's representative to the Hao Hao Buddhist sect, which has more than a million adherents in the Mekong Delta. Intelligence sources said they did not believe he was a high-ranking member of the Viet Cong hierarchy.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command said the command has "no knowledge as of now" of the massacre alleged Thursday by the chief Viet Cong delegate to the Paris peace talks.

The spokesman added that no investigation is being made into the allegation that U.S., South Vietnamese and South Korean troops killed more than 700 civilians in a group of villages in Quang Nam Province last Nov. 11-12.

Muskie Finds Cost Estimate Short Of Need

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has summoned a Democratic Congress and a watching nation to join in an effort to "make our peace with nature," intensify the struggle against crime and stick with him in dealing with the Vietnam war.

The President presented those priorities Thursday in his first State of the Union message, a 36-minute speech abridged from what was once a two-hour, 10-minute draft.

Charting goals but few specific programs, the Republican President encountered a generally mild, and frequently favorable, Democratic reaction. GOP leaders termed the speech a masterpiece.

Senate Democrats called a caucus today to discuss a response from the congressional majority. It is likely to be a televised outline of the Democratic view, about Feb. 8.

Nixon told the joint session he will send at least a dozen major new proposals to Capitol Hill during the current, election-year session.

Clean Water First

He did not list the specifics. But Hugh Scott, the Republican Senate leader, said a Nixon program to combat water pollution will top the list.

That one is likely to reach Congress within two or three weeks. Nixon said it will be a five-year, $10-billion program to build all the municipal waste treatment plants needed in the nation.

The President called it the most comprehensive and costly pollution control program in American history.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine said the commitment was reassuring—but the leading Democratic spokesman on environmental issues said it would cost $25 billion in federal funds to deal with municipal wastes over the next five years.

"He's given us another cry of alarm, but he hasn't given us anything to deal with," said the Maine senator, who is rated a likely contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

Nixon said the budget he will send to Congress by early February will be in balance, for the sake of combating inflation.

He said spending programs are politically popular, but an inflation-wracked economy cannot afford them.

Sees Controls Need

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was not convinced budget balancing alone would be sufficient.

He said Nixon might have to send Congress specific legislation including wage, price, profit and credit controls to deal with inflation.

In one area, law enforcement, Nixon said he intends to increase rather than cut federal spending. He did not say how much money would be involved, but he said aid to local law enforcement agencies would be doubled in the new budget.

In foreign affairs, Nixon said, the United States seeks better relationships with the Soviet Union and mainland China.

"... We are moving with precision and purpose from an era of confrontation to an era of negotiation," he said. "... I believe our new policies have contributed to the prospect that America may have the best chance since World War II to enjoy a generation of uninterrupted peace."

Peace Hopes Brighter

In Vietnam, Nixon said, the United States is making progress toward a just settlement.

"The prospects for peace are far greater today than they were a year ago," he said.

The President said Congress shares the credit because it has overwhelmingly supported the effort for such a peace.

"By this action," Nixon said, "you have completely demolished the enemy's hopes that they can again in Washington the victory our fighting men deny it in Vietnam."

Governor Calls For Clean State By '80

LANSING (AP)—Calling preservation of the environment "the critical issue of the seventies," Gov. William Milliken outlined Thursday a broad program of proposals to clean up Michigan.

In a special message to the Legislature, the governor presented a 20-point "Action Agenda" which he said is designed "to put us squarely on the path to a clean environment by 1980."

It involves strengthening of present laws, enactment of new ones, creation of new jobs and commissions, financing considerations and even the giving of awards for outstanding work in the environmental area. The comments covered not only air and water, but also a range of subjects from billboards to radiation.

Attacks Carelessness

Milliken attacked what he called "The entire climate of carelessness" which has led to deterioration of waterways, forests, beaches, air and the environment in general.

"The justification for this ruin has always been the improvement of the economy," the governor said. "But that justification is no longer valid. We are already the most affluent nation on earth, but we have paid too high a price."

Stressing the involvement of citizens as well as industry and government, Milliken said "Our environment will not be saved from destruction by a single legislative session, or by state government alone. Only a total commitment by all sectors of society can prevent its ruin. It is not only our privilege to preserve and protect the earth we have inherited; it is our solemn duty."

New Department?

Milliken said he will create a new post of environmental coordinator to act as a clearinghouse for complaints and recommendations. The coordinator will be helped, he said, by a team of "The best qualified state people in the areas of air, water, solid waste and recreation."

Meanwhile, the governor said he has asked the council for environmental quality to study the feasibility of a state department of environmental protection.

He also announced he is establishing a special commission to make recommendations on all aspects of state land use, including ownership, taxation, land use controls and long-term statewide land use planning.

Milliken said state agencies responsible for environmental protection are studying the feasibility of using some gasoline and oil tax funds for environmental purposes. He said that, while the taxes presently are earmarked for highway purposes, significant amounts of gasoline and oil are used in

Yablonski Call Was Tip To Trio Arrest

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Union insurgent Joseph Yablonski, his wife and daughter were murdered shortly before he was to tell what he knew about United Mine Workers' activities to two grand juries, officials say.

Three Cleveland men today faced murder charges in connection with the deaths, in addition to federal charges, including conspiring to interfere with Yablonski's rights as a union member.

Yablonski, 59, had just lost a bitter election in an attempt to unseat UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle shortly before he, his wife, Margaret, 57, and daughter, Charlotte Joanne, 25, were found fatally shot in the family's Washington County, Pa., home Jan. 5.

Sources in Washington disclosed that Boyle, too, would have been a key witness at two federal grand jury probes into UMW affairs—one in Washington and the other in Pittsburgh.

Federal authorities said, however, that the three arrested had no known UMW connections.

Meanwhile, Pennsylvania authorities planned extradition proceedings on the murder charges today against Paul R. Gilly, 37, a house painter; Aubran W. "Buddy" Martin, 23, a laborer; and Claude E. Vealey, 26, an unemployed parolee from the Ohio State Reformatory.

Col. Frank McKetta, head of the Pennsylvania State Police, said an Ohio license plate on a car led to the trio's arrest in Cleveland Wednesday night. He said Yablonski had seen the car near his home and reported the license number to the police about two weeks before the slayings.

"The motive is still under investigation," McKetta added. The FBI has refused to say how its investigation led to the three men, originally picked up on the federal charges.

Brave Still Walk Capital Streets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Contrary to what President Nixon says, many brave souls in Congress do walk home alone at night, even some of those victimized by the capital's rising crime rate.

"I'm not afraid," said Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.C., shortly after the President told Congress in his State of the Union address Thursday.

"We have a tragic example of this (crime) problem in the nation's capital ... I doubt if there are many members of this Congress who live more than a few blocks from here who would dare leave their cars in the Capitol garage and walk home alone tonight."

Burdick, the victim of a robbery attempt several months ago, said Thursday he may be "a little bit foolhardy but I like to walk in my capital city."

Although none of the senators and representatives who said they do walk home at night made light of Washington's severe crime problem, there were some who thought the President went too far.

"It was one of the most shocking statements I ever heard a President make in a State of the Union message," said Sen. William Proxmire, the Wisconsin Democrat whose physical fitness routine has him jogging the five miles to his home many nights.

"I think there is good reason to be concerned," he said, "especially for the women. There have been a number of attacks. But I think it was a gross exaggeration by the President."

Texas Democratic Rep. Bob Eckhardt, who bicycles home at night, indicated the President over-reacted.

GOP Senators Open-Minded On Court Pick

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Republican senators who helped defeat President Nixon's first choice of a southern judge for the Supreme Court are not committing themselves on his latest nomination.

With a few exceptions, they said they will await Senate Judiciary Committee hearings before making up their minds on the nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

Seventeen of the 43 Republican senators voted in November against confirmation of the Supreme Court nominations of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., a South Carolinian who is chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals.

It was the 17 GOP defections, combined with 38 votes from the Democratic side, that rejected Haynsworth 55-45.

The 17 included Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, his deputy, Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, and the chairman of the Senate Republican Conference, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Carswell, a member of the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals, was nominated by Nixon Monday.

In an effort to clear the way for confirmation, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell briefed key GOP senators on Carswell's background in advance of the nomination announcement.

But apparently he didn't prepare them for the subsequent disclosure that Carswell, when campaigning for the Georgia legislature 22 years ago, said he would always be governed by "the firm, vigorous belief in principles of white supremacy."

After this was brought to light, Carswell said "I denounce and reject the words themselves and the thoughts they represent."

Senate leaders of both parties said they doubted the speech would affect his chances for confirmation by the Senate, although some Judiciary Committee members said he will be questioned about it at hearings starting next Tuesday.

Agnew Is Big Gun In GOP Election Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's top political adviser says Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will be the administration's big gun in this year's congressional elections.

Harry S. Dent of South Carolina foresees gains in the House—and a good chance of picking up the seven seats necessary for the Republicans to capture control of the Senate.

And he says Nixon is not following any southern strategy but is instead "writing the South back into the Union again by using an even hand and a fair approach rather than writing the South off like the Democrats are doing."

The 39-year-old Dent, former top aide to Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., was interviewed in his spacious, birch-paneled office in the East Wing of the White House—a short, carpeted walk from the Oval Office occupied by the President.

His title is special counsel to the President. But although he's a lawyer, he said the "special means special for politics."

Speaking of this November's congressional races, Dent said of Agnew: "The vice president will be the prime leader in support of Republican candidates across the country this year. There is no question about that."

Referring to Agnew's recent standing in a nationwide Gallup poll, Dent went on, "Agnew is the third most-admired man in the country right now"—behind Nixon and evangelist Billy Graham. "The support the vice president has picked up is solid and deep. He'll be used in all parts of the country."

As for Nixon, said Dent, "The President has not determined how active a role he'll take in campaigns this year. He'll decide what he should do as he gets closer to the November elections."

As for the election, Dent said: "The odds are best in the West. There are probably more Democrats who are vulnerable in the West. But we can gain in each section of the country also—for example, in Florida and Tennessee and Connecticut and Ohio."

Dent said reform will be the GOP's main issue in the 1970 campaign. "The President," he said, "has proposed or is in the process of proposing reforms in a dozen major areas. That's what the people want."

Kennedy Fights Tough Crime Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, after losing one fight to amend a major anticrime bill, scheduled a second attempt today as the Senate neared passage of the legislation sought by President Nixon.

The organized crime control bill before the Senate was one of the measures the President was talking about. Thursday in his State of the Union message when he said: "We in the executive have done everything we can under existing law but new and stronger weapons are needed in this fight."

Pending as the Senate resumed work on the measure was an amendment by Kennedy, the Democratic whip from Massachusetts, and Sen. Phillip A. Hart, D-Mich. It would strike a section of the bill overturning a 1968 Supreme Court decision that permitted defendants access to government information obtained from illegal wiretaps so that they can determine if evidence thus obtained is being used against them.

One object of the bill was to make it easier to obtain evidence for criminal prosecutions. In a vote Thursday shortly after President Nixon renewed his call for tough new anticrime bills, the Senate rejected 62-11 an attempt by Kennedy to narrow the list of offenses for which additional prison sentences of 30 years can be imposed.

Kennedy argued the special sentencing provision in the bill would go beyond the field of organized crime and might be applied to hundreds of other crimes, even in cases where persons were convicted of civil rights or selective service law violations.

His amendment would have restricted the additional sentences to offenses listed in another section of the bill establishing new powers to fight infiltration of legitimate businesses and labor unions by racketeers.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., floor manager of the bill, argued the provision for additional sentencing was aimed only at organized crime and the professional criminal. He said Kennedy's amendment would create a loophole in the law.

Moynihan Speaks

LANSING (AP)—Daniel "Pat" Moynihan, President Nixon's assistant for urban affairs and executive secretary of the National Council on Urban Affairs, will speak Feb. 4 at Lansing.

The State Department of Public Health, the Michigan Health Officers Association and local health groups are sponsoring the conference on urban problems. The department described Moynihan as the only Democrat among the president's top advisers.

Sturgeon River Land Purchased

The Nature Conservancy, one of the Nation's leading conservation organizations, has acquired 3,215 acres in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

The land edging each side of Sturgeon River and fronting on Lake Michigan a few miles east of Nahma was purchased from the American Playground Device Company for $175,000. Funds for the purchase were made available to the Nature Conservancy through a special $6 million line of credit backed by the Ford Foundation.

The Sturgeon River Tract, heavily forested with northern hardwoods and white cedar, is an "inholding" within the west unit of the Hiawatha National Forest. It is anticipated that the land will be acquired from The Nature Conservancy by the U. S. Forest Service for inclusion in the national forest within the next year.

Private Agency
The non-profit Nature Conservancy is the only national private conservation agency whose resources are used solely to acquire and preserve natural areas for present and future generations.

In announcing the purchase, Winston A. Elkins, midwestern regional director for The Nature Conservancy, commended the American Playground Device Company for its decision to save the land in its natural state rather than open the area for tract development.

Elkins went on to say the president of the firm, Warren P. Miller's "choice to keep the Sturgeon River as a natural area is evidence of the growing role U. S. industry can play in the conservation of our Nation's resources." "Many corporations, large and small, hold thousands of acres of marsh, woodland and open space that, for the mutual benefit of the corporation and the public, can and should be preserved for use as recreational areas, refuges, or areas for scientific study."

The Nature Conservancy has been responsible for the preservation of natural areas totaling over 140,000 acres throughout the United States. The 18,000 member organization has 34 chapters in 24 states and maintains a national headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Recreation Dept. Briefs

The supply of used skates and ski boots is depleted and anyone with either of these items for sale is asked to drop them off at the used skate market in the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center.

Patrons whose skates have been sold must pick up their money before the end of the month, the recreation department announced today. The market will be open on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday evenings from 7 to 9 and Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4. The Danforth Ski Hill will be open for public skiing on Saturday and Sunday afternoon from 1:30 to 4:30 and Wednesday night from 7 to 9:30.

City skating rinks are operating with supervision every night of the week and Saturday and Sunday afternoon. Evening hours from 6:30 to 8 are for children and their parents. Teenagers and adults are scheduled from 8 to 9:30. Some unsupervised skating is possible in the afternoons when crews are not flooding.

Temperature of clean snow melting in the sun at sea level is always 0° C. or 32° F.

Library By Mail Working

BARAGA—In a 900-square-mile sparsely settled deep-snow area of Baraga County, folks in 1,215 homes are having a different kind of winter. The snow is just as deep on the ground (nearly 30 inches in many places) and the ice is piled up just as high along the shores of Lake Superior, but the people are reading many more books—without going to the library for them.

Mail Order Library Service is one of two such experimental projects in the United States. The other serves the people in an isolated area near Wenatchee, Wash.

Books are brought right to the homes of the patrons in a uniquely new program that utilizes the established service of the U. S. Post Office in getting the books from the library to the readers and back on the shelves again. The pilot program's success indicates that "mail order books" are likely to put the bookmobile out of business in serving the needs of people in certain areas.

Trucks Lacking For Biafran Aid

PORT HARCOURT, Nigeria (AP) — Every hour Radio Nigeria exhorts the war refugees to remain where they are so that they can be helped, but relief workers say there are not nearly enough trucks to take food to them.

Members of the international observer team told newsmen federal units inside fallen Biafra had less than 100 vehicles but the Guard Training Division in Lagos had five times as many.

Doctors and nurses treating hungry children brought from the bush to sick bays in Port Harcourt were almost unanimous in their criticism of federal relief efforts.

"Their army is never short of beer and their whores get transported everywhere," a Scottish doctor said, "but they can't get a truck to take my nurses out to the clinic. Where are all the trucks that kept Biafra going for 2½ years?"

In Lagos, the Nigerian chief of state, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, told a news conference relief work is progressing satisfactorily, but he got angry when

"We don't expect miracles," Gowon declared. "Is anyone willing to say there is not misbehavior in their own armies? ... Just because a soldier looks away and is not bending down over someone, he is indifferent."

"There is no doubt that the next few weeks some will regard it as their main task to be little over the efforts of those who are genuinely trying to help in a difficult situation. For our part we have made it our duty to ensure that we do everything possible to bring relief to our people and to ensure an early return to normalcy to all parts of our country."

Gowon announced that the government had set aside another $28 million for relief, bringing the total to $45 million. He also said Roman Catholic missionaries who had been working in the Biafra area would be investigated and that each case would be considered before any are expelled. He said some mercenaries fighting for Biafra had disguised themselves as priests to avoid capture.

In Washington, a White House spokesman said President Nixon on received an urgent plea from Nigeria Thursday for planes, food and medical supplies. Nixon ordered the immediate dispatch of six cargo planes and 50 generators, 10,000 blankets and 10,000 hurricane lamps for hospitals. And 40,000 tons of food is to be sent each month, in addition to the $10 million the White House had previously earmarked for emergency help.

Adam To Teach Economics Here

Donald S. Adam Jr., who will teach in the area of economics, has joined the staff of Bay de Noc Community College.

Adam holds a bachelor's degree from Valparaiso University in Valparaiso, Ind., and a master of arts degree in economics from the University of Nebraska.

His experience includes teaching at the University of Nebraska and at Michigan Lutheran College, Detroit. Prior to his appointment to the Bay de Noc College faculty he served as an investment analyst in the trust division of Detroit Bank and Trust Co.

Dr. William Butt, academic dean of the college, said Adam's responsibilities will involve the teaching of principles of economics and comparative economic systems. A total of three courses in economics will be offered during the spring semester.

Dr. Butt added that Adam's appointment "is in keeping with the selection of faculty members whose practical experience in their academic fields results in greater advantages to both instructor and student. It is the philosophy of the college to emphasize practical education in all phases of work."

Adam and his wife, Beverly, are the parents of a five month old son. The Adams are currently building a home on Portage Point.

Additional titles are being listed, an enlarged basic catalog is being planned for the end of this year, and in 1971 the Federation will offer the service via contract to other areas currently without public library service.

It appears that "in sparsely settled areas mail order service is superior to bookmobile service in many ways, and less expensive," Secord said.

State Officials To Discuss U.P. Growth

LANSING — Officials from Gov. William G. Milliken's office and two state agencies will participate in a meeting on regional development to be held in Houghton next Wednesday, it was announced today.

The meeting, which will be held at 9:30 a. m. at the Memorial Union Building on the Campus of Michigan Tech, is being sponsored by the Western Upper Peninsula Economic Development District.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss benefits of the area-wide approach to solving problems.

State Commerce Director Richard E. Whitmer, in a report to Gov. Milliken following a week-long fact-finding mission to the Upper Peninsula, urged that greater emphasis be placed on solving Upper Peninsula problems on a regional rather than a local basis.

Topics to be covered at the meeting include regional planning, consolidation of local governmental units, the State's role in economic development, comprehensive health planning and the cost of local governmental services.

Officials from Lansing who will participate in the program include James Kelly, Health Planning Consultant in the Comprehensive State Health Planning Section of the Governor's Office; Harris Miller of the Office of Economic Expansion of the Michigan Department of Commerce; James Bolthouse from the Bureau of Local Government Services of the Michigan Department of Treasury; and James Bryant from the Office of Community Planning of the Department of Commerce.

Otto Johnson Taken By Death

MANISTIQUE — Otto William Johnson, 79, died suddenly Thursday afternoon at his home in the Marblehead area. He was born July 2, 1890 in Jurva, Finland and came to the United States 72 years ago, first settling in Rudyard. He had resided in Manistique since 1928.

Mr. Johnson owned and operated a grocery store in Rudyard for several years and established the Marblehead Dairy after moving to Manistique. He was married to the former Rauha Gustafson Sept. 7, 1920 in Brooklyn, N. Y. and she died Jan. 28, 1968.

Mr. Johnson was a member of the Apostolic Lutheran Church of Champion and had served as treasurer of the Foreign Missionary Society.

He is survived by one son, Levi of Oceanside, Calif., four daughters, Mrs. Harold (Jenny) Chatter of Manistique, Mrs. Roland (Esther) Hedgren of Gulliver, Mrs. Clyde (Hilda) A'Neal of San Diego, Calif. and Mrs. Casimir (Miriam) Wrope of Southfield, Mich.; 12 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Messier - Broulliere Funeral Home after 4 p. m. Sunday and complete funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Monday at the funeral home with the Rev. Ingmar Levin officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Raymond Boyle Dies Suddenly

Raymond C. Boyle, 49, a former Escanaba resident, died suddenly Thursday at the V.A. Hospital in Battle Creek. He was born Sept. 24, 1920 in Escanaba and had served with the U.S. Navy for 14 years.

He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. William (Loretta) Anderson of Detroit, Mrs. Wallace (Katherine) Chroge of Brampton, Mrs. Gerald (Ruth) Shirk of Gladstone and Mrs. William (Marie) McMartin of Escanaba; three brothers, Robert of Long Beach, Calif. and Michael and Vern of Escanaba.

Friends may call at the Degnan-Crawford Funeral Home from 4 to 9:30 p. m. Sunday and parish prayers will be recited at 7 p. m. Funeral services will be conducted at 9 a. m. Monday at St. Patrick's Church with the Rev. Charles C. Carmody officiating. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery. Military rites will be conducted by the local veterans' organizations.

Big GOP Kitty Set For '70 Vote Drive

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Republican Party aims to spend more than $1.25 million this year to try to oust a Democratic U.S. Senator and sweep seats in Congress and the State Capitol.

But the party isn't saying who will get how much.

Harold McClure, GOP state finance chairman, announced the plan Thursday, saying the total earmarked the campaigning this year represented nearly half the party's 1970 budget and compared with $842,000 spent during the 1966 campaign.

"You can see the importance we place on the elections of 1970," he told a news conference.

Other evidence of that "importance" was the presence of Max Fisher, a Detroit financier who has in the past raised substantial amounts for former Gov. George Romney and President Nixon's presidential campaign in 1968.

"I expect to support the party, both financially and helping Hal," said Fisher, who recently has been less involved in Michigan politics. Fisher serves as chairman of the finance committee's executive committee.

Fund Drive Started

A statement released by the finance committee termed the $1.26 million allotment "a very realistic as well as achievable budget."

The party currently is some $130,000 in debt, but McClure said some funds earmarked for campaigning already were in a trust fund and the rest would be raised by "good hard work and good organization."

"We believe that it is a budget that will enable us to present strong, capable candidates to the Michigan voters," added the committee statement.

McClure steadfastly refused, however, to disclose any planned breakdown in doling out the funds to individual candidates.

"There are four or five combinations and circumstances that could create different divisions as to distribution of the funds," he said.

He refused also to say what the smallest amount allotted for the U.S. Senate race would be, but added that none of the possible divisions under consideration amounted to "writing off" that contest.

Huber Candidate

One prominent Republican, Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood of St. Louis, has said he considered incumbent Sen. Philip A. Hart "unbeatable."

Conservative State Sen. Robert Huber of Troy now is the only announced candidate for Hart's seat.

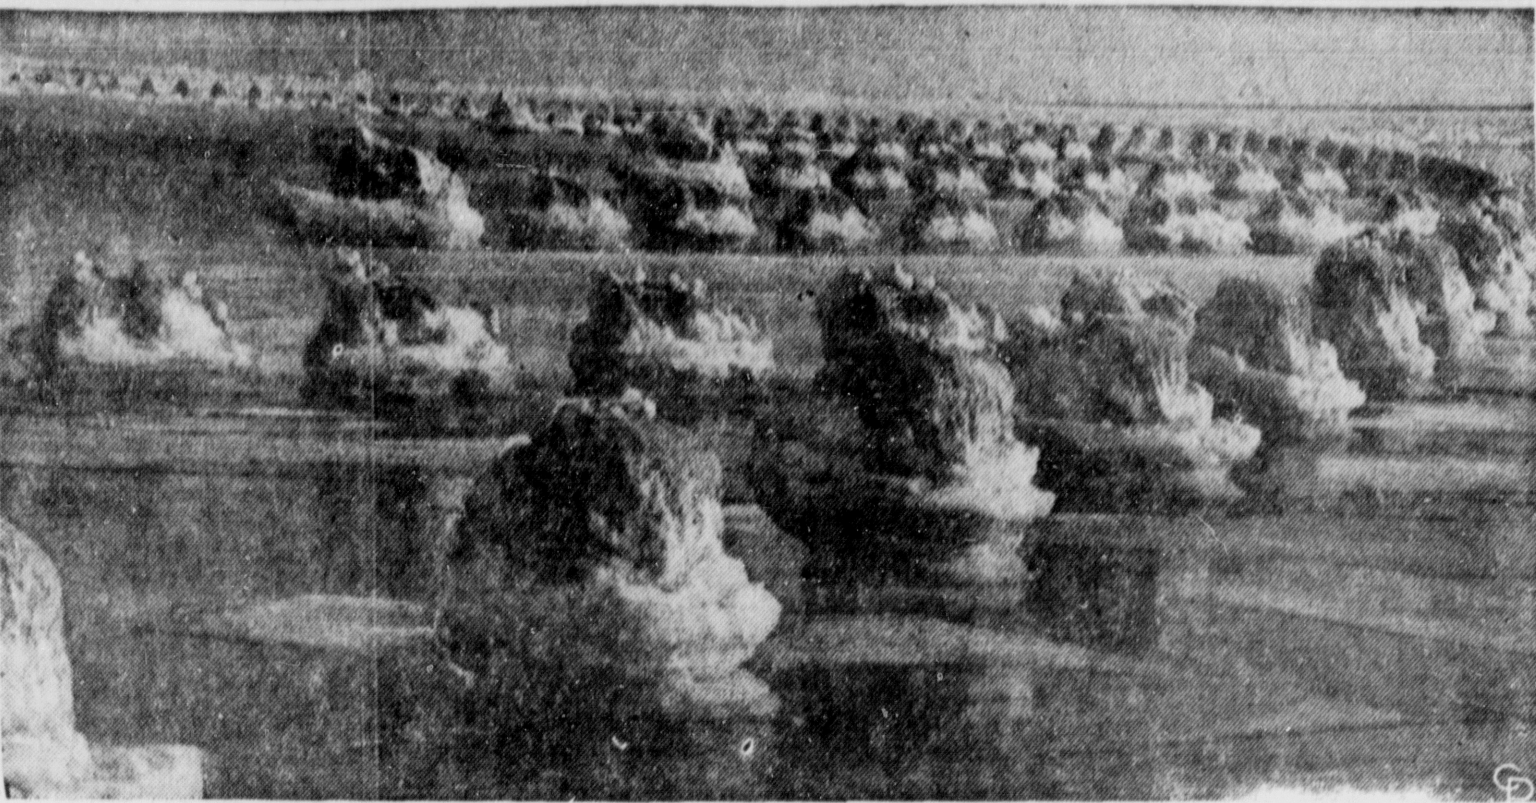

Other possibilities include Romney or his wife Lenore; Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennan of the State Supreme Court, who reportedly will announce his candidacy before month's end and had asked the party for $650,000 to campaign with. James F. O'Neil, treasurer of the State Board of Education, bills himself as a "potential candidate" at this point.

McClure and Fisher both sidestepped questions about which candidate they would prefer, which they expected to run and which would help the party most.

McClure declared, however, that he expected the pledge of funds could "attract stronger candidates."

The earmarked party money will be used for general election campaigning, McClure specified, not primary work.

Even if Gov. William Milliken, as yet an unannounced candidate for re-election, was opposed in a primary? "That's right," McClure replied.

Protection Asked For Teachers And Trailer Dwellers

LANSING (AP) — Legislation aimed at protecting teachers from assault and granting equal rights to those who live in mobile homes in trailer parks are being sponsored by two members of the House of Representatives.

Rep. Gustave Groat Sr., R - Battle Creek, is backing a bill that would make it a high misdemeanor for any person to assault a teacher or any other school personnel on school property.

Rep. Vincent Petipren, D - Westland, is sponsor of a measure he terms "a bill of rights" for those who live in the trailer parks.

"It provides for judicial protection for tenants of trailer coach parks," he explained. "They deserve these protections just as much as my other tenants."

Crash Kills Two

MONROE (AP) — Two persons were killed and 20 others injured in a chain-reaction accident involving a car, a bus and three trucks on I-75 in Frenchtown Township of Monroe County Thursday night.

The Monroe County Sheriff's Department identified the victims as Franklin Broege, 58, of Elyria, Ohio, and Darryl Owen Barnes, 25, of Fort Clinton, Ohio.

Officials said Broege was driving a Greyhound bus and Barnes was driving a truck at the time of the accident about 10:40 p.m.

The injured victims were taken to two hospitals in Monroe and to St. Vincent's Hospital in Toledo.

Officials said that Barnes' truck collided with another truck and was struck by the Greyhound bus with 20 passengers aboard. A car then crashed into the wreckage, officials said.

The accident happened about six miles north of this southeastern Michigan city. Monroe County Sheriff's Department is still investigating.

Whitmer Revamps His Department

LANSING (AP) — Richard Whitmer, director of the State Commerce Department, has announced a reorganization of his department, including the appointment of a second deputy director. S. Martin Taylor, executive assistant to the director, will be the new deputy. The reorganization also establishes an office of planning and program development, to report directly to Whitmer.

Snowmobiles, Boon Or Headache?

LANSING (AP) — Are snowmobiles the greatest boon to family kinship since pioneer days, or are they a burgeoning wintertime headache for much of Michigan's northland?

Rep. Robert W. Davis, R-St. Ignace, is covering both possibilities with separate resolutions he's introduced in the Michigan House.

Citing a claim that some 100,000 persons now own the gasoline-powered, tread-driven vehicles and contribute toward a $150-million industry, Davis wants the Legislature to proclaim the week of Feb. 15-21 as Michigan Snowmobile Week.

Snowmobiling, reads his proposed resolution, "is a family affair, reviving the ancient traditions and rare privileges of grandparent-grandchild relationships, and binding in sheer joy all family elements known in pioneer days."

On the other hand, Davis also seeks formation of a special committee on snowmobiling problems. The committee's five members would have the standard subpoena power and be entitled to travel expense.

Numerous northern communities have begun adopting local ordinances restricting hours and places where snowmobiles may be operated.

The East Jordan City Council has considered banning them entirely.

Davis' colleague, Rep. Loren D. Anderson, R-Pontiac, has introduced a bill that would regulate both snowmobiles and their summer equivalent, all-terrain vehicles, chiefly by setting stringent registration procedures and requiring operators to carry proof of that registration at all times.

Davis' proposed committee would have until next Jan. 1—or the start of the 76th session—to issue a report recommending new controls.

Car Output Up

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's new car production was scheduled at 161,477 this week, higher than the 138,517 last week, but still below the 193,380 for the same period a year ago.

The trade publication, Automotive News, said the total domestic new car production this year is 457,139, a sharp decline from the 662,994 last year.

American Motors Corp. has registered the only gain over 1969, with 29,195 new car assemblies for the year, compared to 17,516 in the first few weeks of January a year ago.

In Barrow, Alaska, northernmost town in the United States, the winter temperature may "soar" to minus 30 degrees Fahrenheit on the shortest day of the year.

'The Pill'

Quite a lively debate has erupted in the United States over "The Pill."

A Senate subcommittee chaired by Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wisconsin) is hearing testimony on it and its safety and side effects. Women are writing letters to columnists and talking to their physicians. Reporters are investigating the use and dispensing of it to unmarried coeds on colleges and university campuses. Mothers are asking discreet questions about whether or not to give it to their teenage daughters whom they trust explicitly but "just want to be safe." It has been a subject of great debate within the Catholic Church.

"The Pill," of course, is the smaller than aspirin size tablet which women of the world are gobbling by the millions which has the desirable side effect of preventing pregnancy. Just take it as prescribed and presto. No muss, no fuss, no babies.

But lately there have been some investigative reports coming out of the medical field, raising questions about "The Pill" and what might be some undesirable side effects. Even Dr. J. W. Goldzeiher of the Southwest Foundation for Research and Education who testified before the Senate subcommittee that driving a car, smoking and riding in a boat are hundreds of times more dangerous than taking "The Pill" conceded that "when all is said and done a definite risk may well exist."

Dr. Goldzeiher's arguments are well taken. He is not naive enough to insist that there is no risk in taking the pill. In the same vein, a judge will tell a jury that a defendant must not be proven guilty beyond all doubt. But Dr. Goldzeiher in his testimony attempts to put "The Pill" in some sort of perspective.

He does not deny there may be some risk involved in taking "The Pill" but on the other hand he points out that there are greater risks involved in any of a hundred and one other activities engaged in by people. There is risk in taking an airplane for a 2,000 mile flight across the nation, but many people do it often because of the great benefits in saved time and energy.

And so it should be with "The Pill." For many women, the "risk" involved in taking "The Pill" isn't anywhere near the "risk" she would be taking by not using it. After all, isn't there still some health danger during pregnancy and birth? For some people, isn't there the economic danger that an unwanted pregnancy could cause? Nevertheless, the publicity about "The Pill" is good.

Women are being informed, at least, about the possibility that a risk exists, however small it may be. They should have these facts before proceeding blindly ahead. Only then can a judgment be made.

Pacifism That Works

Where else can one find such a hotbed of hostility as in a court of law? Each case is born of conflict, matured on resentment, and brought to maturity in the grim certainty that one side is right and the other is wrong.

The individual litigants, seeking their "day in court," make up a veritable parade of angry men. Here we find the wrathful motorist, the indignant neighbor, the outraged customer, the brate stockholder. Their grievances are the kind that, in a tavern or on a street corner, would very likely explode into violence.

Yet, violence is seldom seen in the courtroom. Even after the decision, when one of the parties has tasted defeat, the loser usually "takes" it with astonishingly good grace. As Federal Judge Henry J. Friendly wrote recently: "I always feel pride, and some wonder, when, after a heated and bitter argument, a word passes from the bench and quiet descends."

What defuses the explosion? Surely the secret lies in the basic method of the courtroom — the method of settling disputes by allowing each side to be heard, with a neutral third party deciding which one shall win.

To be sure, the method has faults. Legal technicalities slow it. Human frailties flaw it. Not every judge is impartial, not every juror wise.

But the method does succeed in settling a vast number of potentially violent disputes — peacefully.

"On the whole," observed Judge Friendly, "it works."

Pacifism does not deny that conflicts will inevitably arise in the ordinary course of human affairs. Pacifism seeks only to resolve these conditions without violence. The courtroom is demonstrating daily that it can be done.

Peninsula Potpourri

Settlement was reached between the City of Iron Mountain and members of the union representing the Iron Mountain Police Department patrolmen during a four-hour arbitration session this week. Arbitration was sought by the union regarding three grievances. "All of the differences between the parties which were brought before the arbitrator were settled by the parties directly," said M. David Keefe, Detroit, who is employed by the American Arbitration Association and acted as arbitrator for the case.

Ironwood and Bessemer have recovered 16 of their missing international flags. Apparently someone's conscience bothered him, leading to a call to Ironwood police. Responding to the tip from the unidentified telephone caller, Ironwood police recovered the flags — all eight missing Bessemer banners and eight of Ironwood's lost pennants — in the men's room of the state tourist information center.

William S. Baird III, district judge for Gogebic and Ontonagon counties the past year, died unexpectedly after a short illness. He was being taken from his home in Ironwood to a hospital when he died. Baird was admitted to the bar in Ironwood in 1938 and served as justice of the peace in Bessemer for 27 years and as Bessemer city attorney from 1944 to 1956.

Retailers Find Sunday Openings Good Business

By WHAYNE EISENMAN
NEW YORK (AP) — It's Sunday and the cash registers are ringing in Larry Voet's supermarket, but to him they don't have the same musical chime as on weekdays.

"I don't think anybody likes working on Sundays," Voet said watching a woman squeeze a head of lettuce then toss it back on the pile.

Like it or not, Voet, manager of an Albers supermarket in Cincinnati, and other retailers across the nation are faced with a growing trend to remain open on Sundays.

Chain Reaction
"Our store stays open only because others are open... it's a chain reaction," he said.

Even old-line department stores—pressed by competition and an apparent demand by shoppers for a place to buy on weekends—are staying open on the traditional day of rest.

"Our stores will remain open only in areas where our major competitors... keep their stores open..." said a J. C. Penney spokesman.

Penney, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck experimented with Sunday sales in some stores for the first time late last year and say they intend to continue the practice.

Marked Advantage
Sunday has a marked advantage to some shoppers.

Husbands who commute between suburb and city can accompany their wives to help make decisions on major purchases, and excursions through rambling department stores take the form of Sunday outings for the whole family.

One-car families and working wives like Sunday shopping, reports a Food Fair market manager in Los Angeles. Business is "especially heavy Friday nights and continues through the weekend," when the car is available, he said.

But opening either large or small stores on Sunday is not as simple as it might seem.

The extra work day is expensive and can cut into the profits from increased sales—if they do, in fact, increase.

And many states have "blue laws." These are so called because the severe moral dictates of 18th Century Connecticut Puritans were bound in a blue book. The blue laws restrict sales of many items on the Sabbath.

Blue Laws Modified
Blue laws have been modified over the years and frequently have been the center of legislative controversy.

In Kentucky, for example, it is legal to buy a glass of milk on Sunday, but not a full bottle. You can buy a cooked hamburger but not a frozen one.

In Massachusetts food may be sold only by farmers or stores which during the week employ more than three persons, including the owner.

In spite of blue laws, some merchants have been determined to open on Sundays, with varying results.

Firm Fined $50
In Hopkinsville, Ky., for example, the S. H. Kress Co. was recently fined $50 for violating the state's Sunday closing law. A similar charge against Big K, a discount store, was dropped.

Sunday sales of general merchandise in Ohio are prohibited, but they continue.

"Nobody enforces the law, I guess because it's an unpopular one," said John C. Young, city attorney for Columbus. "They tried to enforce it... about five or six years ago... went through 200 to 300 cases... but there was so much pressure from the business community, they finally stopped enforcing it."

Store Closes Down

Al Materl, of Bismark, N.D., challenged the city's Sunday closing ordinance and his grocery store—which has six employees—was closed down.

"I did 25 per cent of my weekly volume on Sunday," Materl said.

However, the ordinance modeled after North Dakota state law allows groceries operated by not more than three employees to remain open on Sundays.

Retailing officials worry, too, about the effect of Sunday work on the attitude of employees.

"Being open on Sundays makes the retail business unattractive to current and prospective employees," said a Harrisburg store manager privately.

Shoppers Dislike Law

Some shoppers, however, are almost vehement about doing away with laws that prohibit the sales.

"It's ridiculous when you aren't allowed to make an honest living on Sunday or any day. Our flag is on the moon but we still have laws which keep mothers from buying milk on Sunday," said Mrs. Mildred Peck of Louisville.

Strong sermons were preached against Sunday openings recently in Alabama when it appeared Sears Stores might test the constitutionality of the state law permitting sale only of "essential" items.

Sears did not open there, and P. L. Balden, Sears manager in Birmingham, says the company has no plans to open now.

Resolution Passed

The Southern Baptist Convention in that state passed a resolution that called upon its members to patronize stores that "Observe the Lord's Day." Rev. Oley C. Kidd of the 103,000 member Birmingham Baptist Assn. said the resolution "by inference" called upon Baptists not to trade with stores that might attempt Sunday openings.

Orthodox Jewish groups in particular have pressed for change in the blue laws. The Jewish Sabbath is Saturday.

Blue laws in some states, like Pennsylvania and Texas, provide that members of faiths which observe the Sabbath on a day other than Sunday can open as long as they close one other day in the week.

U.S. Must Be Sure Of Oil, Gas Supplies

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The domestic oil companies have taken a terrible beating from the liberals for defending the oil depletion allowance which they claim is necessary to finance the search for new wells.

They don't deserve the criticism they have been getting. For if anything is obvious, it is that not enough capital has been available in recent years for seeking out new oil fields within the strategically safe environs of the North American continent. The rewards for discovery should have been greater, not less.

It is not that oil itself is such a rare commodity. The real bottleneck in our energy requirements is the inadequate supply of natural gas. The discovery of new gas wells is orderly by a by-product of the search for oil; if we don't drill for oil, we don't add to the supply of gas. It's as simple as that.

In 1968, the actual consumption of natural gas in the U.S. exceeded new discoveries for the first time in our history. And, since gas now provides a third of the energy requirements of the economy, this should have been a warning to the tax "reformers" who want to make it less attractive to engage in the exploratory drilling that usually turns up oil and gas in the traditional tandem relationship.

If something isn't done to encourage gas production, how are we going to keep pace with a demand that is sure to double within the next 20 years?

Fortunately, there is some balm in the development of modern fuel technology. It is now possible to liquefy natural gas, which means that it can be put in a form that permits transportation by ship and barge. By cooling gas to minus 259 degrees Fahrenheit, the volume shrinks to one six-hundredth of the volume it originally had. This means that it can now be brought from North Africa to the U. S. East Coast at competitive prices.

The El Paso Natural Gas Co. recently worked out a pioneer deal with the Algerian government to bring liquefied natural gas to American users.

The terms of the deal are rather canny, for, unlike the big international oil companies which shake in their boots because they have risked their capital in the ownership of wells in Libya, Saudi Arabia, and elsewhere, El Paso has merely signed a contract to buy a billion cubic feet a day of liquefied gas from Sonatrach, the national Algerian oil and gas company. The contract is scheduled to run for 25 years.

In the nature of things it cannot be disrupted by "nationalization" shenanigans; the Algerians can only hurt themselves by failure to deliver the gas to refrigerated U. S. tankers.

By making no investment in fixed property on foreign soil, El Paso has eliminated the danger of becoming a pawn in the complicated politics of the Middle East. The Algerians are investing $600 million in their own pipeline facilities and liquefaction plant.

They are also providing two refrigerated tankers at a cost of $35 million per ship. El Paso will supply seven or eight tankers of its own that will be used on other runs if the contract should be abrogated by a Mediterranean war.

Since the contract will account for a third of the hard currency which Algeria receives for exports, thus relieving the necessity for "foreign aid," there is every reason to believe that there will be strict

TEST YOUR PLAY

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump. North leads the K-Q of clubs, which you duck, and then the jack—on which South shows out. How would you play the hand?

♠ KJ105 ♠ Q82
♥ AK8 ♥ Q654
♦ AQ ♦ J743
♣ A942 ♣ 86

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Hearts and North leads the five of hearts. You win South's nine and return a high heart. North takes the ace and returns the eight, which you win. South having discarded two diamonds. How would you play the hand?

♠ K10 ♠ J75
♥ KQJ1043 ♥ 762
♦ K6 ♦ A4
♣ J86 ♣ AK1093

1. It is clear that if North has the ace of spades you cannot make the contract, so you must assume that South has the ace.

However, it would be wrong to lead a spade at this point because South would win and probably return a diamond. You would then be faced with the critical question of whether to take a diamond finesse or rely on a 3-3 heart break to make the contract—and you would have no way of knowing which to do.

You can avoid this dilemma by first cashing the A-K-Q of hearts. If it turns out that the suit is divided 3-3, you cash the fourth heart and then force out the ace of spades to assure nine tricks.

If it develops that the hearts are divided 4-2, you will then have to attempt a diamond finesse to make the contract. By testing the hearts before attacking spades, you give yourself two chances to bring home the contract instead of one.

2. There is a possibility of winning the rest of the tricks by taking a club finesse, but there is also the possibility of going down by doing this. This could occur if South got in with the queen of clubs and returned a low spade.

You can guarantee the contract against any accident by entering dummy with a diamond and leading a low spade yourself. Assume South follows low and you lose the ten to the queen.

This is no great hardship because, whatever North returns, you win and force out the ace of spades. This makes dummy's jack a trick on which you discard a club. The most you can lose with this method of play is a heart and two spades.

Theatre Bars Baby From 'Adult' Picture

Dear Ann Landers: The other night my husband and I decided to go to a movie. We couldn't get a sitter so we wrapped our four-month-old son in a blanket and took him with us. When we got to the ticket taker, he said, "Sorry, this picture is for adults only. It has an X rating. We can't let the baby in."

My wife replied, "The baby is only four months old. What's more, he's asleep and won't see anything." The man became annoyed and said, "We have orders not to admit anyone under 18 and I'm not taking any chances."

The woman in the box office refunded our money and we left. My wife was so upset she had to take a sleeping pill. I was pretty burned up myself. What do you think, Ann? Rules are rules but isn't this ridiculous?—Turned Away

Dear Turned: I referred your question to the top man in the Motion Picture Association, Mr. Jack Valenti. He said: "The ticket taker was obviously overzealous in his effort to stick to the letter of the law. His boss probably told him, 'If you let anyone under 18 in the theatre, you will lose your job.'"

"The key word is 'judgment.' A baby in blankets should have been admitted. It is heartening, however, to know that the industry is policing its own. We would rather make a few people angry because their children couldn't get in, than have them mad because they were admitted when they should not have been."

Dear Ann Landers: Sometimes I'm sure the only reason my mother had me was because she wanted someone to do her housework. Are children supposed to enjoy their childhood or be slaves?

I am 16 and finding school very rough. If I'm going to get into a decent college next year, I need grades. I have loads of homework and a busy social life. Is it fair of my mother to ask me to get off the phone and set the table while she is doing nothing but reading or sewing?

Several of my girl friends are having the same problem with their mothers. What is your opinion?—Slave Labor

Dear S. L.: Are you a guest or a member of the family? If you are a guest, you have overstayed your visit. If you are a member of the family, you should contribute something besides your wit and wisdom. Girls whose mothers do not expect them to lift a finger have a very difficult time when they marry. These prima donnas are bewildered and lost. Be glad your mother has good sense and kwitche-beefin'.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for years and always thought it was the funniest part of the paper. Now I have a problem and I apologize for not taking you seriously.

I am 64, a widower who lost a fine wife after 38 years of marriage. My children are all grown and doing well. I've been keeping company with an attractive divorcee 22 years my junior. She has a sunny disposition and is splendid company. I believe she would marry me if I asked. The problem is, I've seen too many older men make fools of themselves the second time around. How can I tell if this lady fair is interested in me or my money? We share many interests and she has been like a ray of sunshine in my life.—Dow Jones

Dear Dow: Has Sunshine asked any questions about your income, your stocks or your bank account? Has she ever asked you to help out with her bills? Have you ever bought her any expensive gifts such as a fur coat or real jewelry? Have you ever "loaned" her money? If you can answer "no" to all these questions, she gets the nod from here.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Pederson Says Air Ordinance Too Permissive

Amer Pederson, president of the Delta County Citizens Committee to Save Our Air, said today that the variance section of the proposed air pollution control ordinance being considered by the Delta County Board of Supervisors is not restrictive enough and could allow variances to be granted indefinitely.

"All the variances in the ordinance do is give industry a chance to pollute legally," Pederson said. "The ordinance gives the local control board the power to legalize year to year pollution through variances."

Under the proposed ordinance, variances could be granted by the control board as long as the company that has been cited gives periodic reports showing there has been reasonable and actual progress made towards compliance with the air control ordinance.

No Time Limit

There is no time limit on when these reports must be made. The variances, however, are limited to a period of one year, but may be renewed from year to year.

The ordinance also says that the control board may grant a variance and suspend enforcement against any company when compliance with the ordinance would constitute a hardship on the firm.

"Time restrictions should be part of the ordinance. These decisions should not be left up to the generosity of a control board," Pederson said.

"Variances should be kept to a minimum, and strictly enforced," he stated. "Why have a law if you are not planning to enforce it," he added.

"The state air pollution control ordinance is a good example of what can happen when these variances are easily obtained," Pederson said. "Over the years there has been a constant polluting of the air by firms who have obtained variances."

Pederson is especially heated because of the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission's failure to enforce a citation against the Chicago & North Western to end air pollution at its Escanaba ore loading terminal.

"The state commission is easily snowed by technical data," he said. "The C&NW gave the commission a lot of fancy figures, and destroyed the value of what is actually happening at the ore terminal."

Scared Of Variances

Pederson said he felt the C&NW would get another variance next March when it goes before the commission to report on its progress.

"This variance thing scares me," Pederson said. "As long as we have indefinite variances industry can 'technically' talk its way out of any enforcement of the law."

The SOA Committee plans to discuss the proposed ordinance with the Delta County Board of Supervisors in the near future, before a public hearing is held on the ordinance.

Women Voters Will Discuss Foreign Aid

Foreign aid will be the topic of discussion of the Escanaba League of Women Voters at its membership meeting next week.

Population planning, agricultural production, social and civic development, and education will be discussed in the overall view of foreign aid to Africa, Latin America, and south central Asia.

Mrs. David Farrand, chairman of the foreign policy committee, will be assisted by Mrs. Luther Barrett, Mrs. Charles Harper, and Mrs. Wesley Lehmann.

The meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Nino Green, 1406 Montana Ave., Gladstone on Monday at 8 p.m.

Interested women in Gladstone, Escanaba, and the surrounding area are invited to attend.

Linkletter Still Wars On Drugs

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Since his daughter plunged to her death last Oct. 4—the victim, he said, of LSD—Art Linkletter has been engaged in a personal war against dangerous drugs.

He has had an evening's discussion in the White House with President and Mrs. Nixon, addressed the nation's governors, appeared before Congressional committees, and spoken to youth groups in colleges and elsewhere.

He serves on a county drug commission and books all the speaking engagements a busy television career will permit.

What can one man do to stop the drug flood?

"Just a little," Linkletter says. "No one ever knows. But if I can save one kid's life, anything I do is worth it."

His next target will be the nation's school teachers.

Through a film aimed specifically at them, the entertainer says, he will try "to educate teachers in how to look for the danger signals, how to handle the drug problem in school."

Diane, 20, the youngest of his five children, fell to her death from her sixth-floor apartment. "It wasn't suicide," Linkletter said then, "because she wasn't herself. She was murdered by the people who manufacture and sell LSD."

Diane's death has brought him 55,000 letters of sympathy.

Linkletter advises the parent of a suspected drug user to have "a frank and honest talk—not an uptight, panicky, demonstrative, emotional talk but just as you might talk with your child if he were going on a cross-country hike over mountains where you knew the dangers and he didn't."

Lawyer Complies With Bar Orders

DETROIT (AP) — Martin J. Lavan, suspended Brighton attorney, has purged himself of a contempt citation from the State Bar of Michigan.

Bar officials said Thursday Lavan had complied with all points of their order of Jan. 9. He filed an affidavit in Livingston County swearing that he ordered his name removed from all stationery used by the law firm in which he was a partner with his son Brian. He also asked the State Bar to remove his name from their annual roster. He had a choice of removing it, or having "barred from practice" added after his name.

Lavan paid a $250 fine and $111 in court costs covering the State Bar's action against him.

Alma Gets Grant

ALMA (AP) — Alma College has received a National Science Foundation grant of $6,080 for support of undergraduate research under supervision of the college's Department of Biology.

Ronald O. Kapp, Alma provost and professor of biology said the grant will support two ecological studies. One will concern the effects of pollution and the other the ecology of the college's MacCurdy Research Station near Vestaburg.

Beef Feeders Up

MUSKEGON (AP) — The president of Muskegon Community College has resigned, contending the job's responsibilities are too great for one man.

Dr. Ralph A. Austermiller, 59, asked the college's board of trustees to accept his resignation Wednesday night and requested that he be given a less demanding administrative post.

The trustees agreed to accept Austermiller's resignation from the $26,500 per year post when his contract expires in July and voted to offer him a three-year contract in the newly created post of coordinator of special projects. No salary was set for the new post.

Simca Prices Cut

DETROIT (AP) — Cuts ranging from $15 to $75 in suggested retail prices for its Simca minicar imports were announced Thursday by Chrysler Corp.

The front-wheel-drive, French-made Simca is a competitor of Volkswagen, but trails the German-made minicar by a wide margin in sales.

The American-made Gremlin of American Motors Corp. is due to make its bow in the subcompact market in April and is expected to be priced slightly lower than the Volkswagen, which has a basic price of $1,839 on the East and a $1,924 tag on the West Coast.

Gladstone Man, Carney Coach Hurt In Crash

IRON MOUNTAIN — A 39-year-old Gladstone man and the Carney High School basketball coach were injured in a two-car traffic accident about 7:45 a.m. today on U.S. 2 at Loretto, east of Norway in Dickinson County.

John DeMay, N. 19th St., Gladstone, was reported in serious condition at St. Vincent's Hospital, Green Bay, Wis., where he was immediately transferred after being first taken to Dickinson Memorial Hospital at Iron Mountain.

Ron Solberg, 29, of Quinnesec, basketball coach at Carney, was hospitalized at Dickinson Memorial. Details on his condition were not immediately available.

State Police of the Iron Mountain post, who are continuing their investigation into the accident, said the Solberg car was eastbound and was passing a snow grader which was plowing snow when it apparently crossed over the center line and collided with DeMay's automobile, which was westbound.

Both cars were demolished, police said.

DeMay is employed as manager of the Michigan Employment Security Commission office in Iron Mountain and apparently was enroute to work from Gladstone when the accident happened. Solberg also apparently was enroute to his teaching position at Carney.

Development Priorities Set

Priorities for programs have been established by the Central Upper Peninsula Economic Development District (C.U.P.E.D.D.) Commission.

Based on the needs of the District, planning was established as the number one priority with industrial development, sewer and water, housing, and transportation following in order.

The listings were established after the six counties of the district (Alger, Delta, Dickinson, Marquette, Menominee, and Schoolcraft) each submitted to the C.U.P.E.D.D. office a list of priority projects based on the major problems within their boundaries.

George W. Rusch, executive director, presented to the commission a plan for the formation of a non-profit foundation. Major function of the foundation will be to serve as a depository for both private and public contributions of money or materials which will assist the District's needs.

Officials of Marinette County have expressed interest in becoming part of the District. No action can be taken on this until there is a formal request from the county concerned and until State approval is given.

Rusch informed the Commission that $131,000 has been set aside in Lansing for Land and Water Conservation Funds specifically for the Upper Peninsula. Governmental bodies interested in applying for a grant should be informed that the funds will be available on a 50-50 cost share basis.

The Commission's next meeting will be held at the Holiday Inn, Marquette, April 21.

Officials Briefed At K. I. Sawyer On Youth Program

K. I. SAWYER — Upper Peninsula mayors, judges, chiefs of police, educators and churchmen today participated in a domestic action briefing here featuring Rev. Donald E. Mowery, executive director of Youth Service in Memphis.

Fr. Mowery has been described as the driving force behind an outstanding domestic action program aimed at educating, rehabilitating and motivating 15 to 18 year old boys.

Under Fr. Mowery's program, 160 boys from the greater Memphis area attended a five-day program at Blytheville AFB, Ark. Under strictly enforced rules and constant supervision the boys ate in base dining halls and slept in barracks in an area provided just for them. The program included athletics, physical and dental examinations, religious and moral lectures and trips and contacts with officers and men.

Algiers Jury Selection Slow

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Three prospective jurors were dismissed by the prosecution in pre-emptory challenges Thursday in the slow process of jury selection for the "Algiers Motel" conspiracy trial.

Kenneth G. McIntyre, special assistant U.S. attorney, used two of his 10 challenges — which may be used at will — to dismiss two white persons who said they did not find any objection to the word "nigger."

Three suspended Detroit policemen and a private guard are charged with conspiring to violate the civil rights of 10 persons at the Algiers Motel during Detroit's 1967 riots. Three Negro youths were found shot to death at the motel.

The selection of the jury continued today, as testimony is not expected to begin until Tuesday.

McIntyre dismissed the other prospective juror who testified he was a military policeman in a prisoner-of-war camp in World War II.

The defense so far has used none of its 24 pre-emptory challenges.

U.S. District Judge Stephen J. Roth dismissed another prospective juror for cause from the panel of 85 when the man said he had formed an opinion and believed that the "officers acted within the bounds of the law" and that they were "doing their job."

Charged in the case are suspended Detroit Patrolmen Ronald August, 31; Robert Paille, 34, and David Senak, 29, and private guard Melvin Dismukes.

Pederson Says Air Ordinance Too Permissive

Amer Pederson, president of the Delta County Citizens Committee to Save Our Air, said today that the variance section of the proposed air pollution control ordinance being considered by the Delta County Board of Supervisors is not restrictive enough and could allow variances to be granted indefinitely.

"All the variances in the ordinance do is give industry a chance to pollute legally," Pederson said. "The ordinance gives the local control board the power to legalize year to year pollution through variances."

Under the proposed ordinance, variances could be granted by the control board as long as the company that has been cited gives periodic reports showing there has been reasonable and actual progress made towards compliance with the air control ordinance.

No Time Limit

There is no time limit on when these reports must be made. The variances, however, are limited to a period of one year, but may be renewed from year to year.

Details of the Klondike Derby scheduled in March and the Spring Camporee will be presented at the next District Roundtable meeting during Scout Week.

The history of Scouting in the Red Buck District and the projects for 1970 to 1976 are to be the subjects of the annual Scout Week celebration, February 7-13. This will be Scouting's 60th anniversary in the United States.

Recruiting Stressed

District Chairman Jay Jennings asked the committee members to recruit the necessary help to strengthen the district's Scouting program and make it available to more boys.

David MacLeod, district executive, stressed that this is the essential requirement in the national Boypower '76 program. The country's manpower for the 1980s must come from the boypower of the 1970s, he said.

The 1970 Sustaining Membership Enrollment plans were outlined by Campaign Chairman Leroy Hamilton of Gladstone.

Finance Committee Chairman Forrest Henslee of Escanaba will help to coordinate the campaign. This will be followed by a vigorous campaign to organize new Cub packs, Scout troops and Explorer posts, and train their leaders.

Rev. Joseph Ablett of Escanaba and Donald Chamberlain of Soo Hill will be in charge of organizing and training, respectively.

Explorer Meeting

Paul Krueger, Bay View Location, reported on plans for organizing Explorer units. The first Explorer leader training session is to be held at the Harnischfeger Corp. conference room at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 3.

Jennings reported on advancement procedures. A merit-badge counselor list is ready for the Gladstone area. A list for Escanaba, and one for Manistique should be ready soon, he said.

Pictures and stories related to scouts and scouting in the past are needed for displays and programs during Scout Week. Anyone having items of historic interest to area Scouts should contact David MacLeod at 786-2406 or Mrs. Emerson Gage at 786-3323.

Snow Artists Preparing Another Spectacular

AMONG THE TOOLS USED by students to produce life-like snow statues, are shovels, axes, knives, machetes, chisels and power saws.

THE NIGHT BEFORE JUDGING always runs into dawn. The final step in statue construction is application of an ice glaze with a blowtorch.

A MICHIGAN TECH STUDENT adds detail to part of last year's winning statue. The scene was DeGaulle using a large chain to haul the Statue of Liberty back to France.

Tech Carnival Week Coming

HOUGHTON — Is Michigan Tech's Winter Carnival one of those things you hear about but never see for yourself?

If so, the first weekend in February is the perfect time to do something about it. That's when the campus area in Houghton is dominated by 25 to 30 snow and ice statues up to three stories tall or a half block long.

Statue construction begins early in January and continues until judging on Thursday morning of carnival week. The students bundle up Wednesday night and work until dawn to add final details and a glaze of ice to their creations. The campus snack bar stays open all night to provide facilities for body thawing operations.

This year's theme, "The Greatest Snow on Earth," will be particularly appealing to the youngsters.

Among the statues will be a 48-foot-long circus train, a 25-foot clown, Charlie Brown, Snoopy, Bozo the Clown, and Ed Sullivan proclaiming "a really big shoe." Last year's winner showed DeGaulle hauling a 27-foot Statue of Liberty back to France.

Adding to the fun of the week will be such activities as snowshoe and human dogsled races, a beard contest, queen talent show, stage reviews and concerts, and a hockey series against Michigan State for the Governor's Cup.

The snow statues will be judged Thursday morning, Feb. 5, and will be on display throughout the weekend.

Easing Of Cold Will Be Brief

By The Associated Press

The face of our fair state was powdered with snow today and the U.S. Weather Bureau said any relief from the current cold would be brief indeed.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted that after a high today in the teens and 20s, temperatures would descend to 5 to 10 above tonight.

The Automobile Club of Michigan reported that snow was falling today all across the state. Only Alpena, Tawas City, Sault Sainte Marie, Mackinaw City and Kalamazoo were spared, the AAA said. With roads, bridges and overpasses glazed and slippery, the AAA advised motorists to reduce speed and use caution.

Dogs Must Have Rabies Vaccination

EAST LANSING—A new Michigan law is literally going to the dogs.

An amendment to our present dog law, dealing with mandatory rabies vaccination, will go into effect on March 19.

The amendment requires that all dogs must be vaccinated by an accredited veterinarian and show proof before they can obtain their annual dog license.

"The insidious nature of rabies makes the new amendment important and beneficial to all dog owners," said Dr. John F. Quinn, state veterinarian and chief of the Animal Health Division, Michigan Department of Agriculture.

"As you know, there is no treatment for this disease in dogs, and it is always fatal," he told the 47th annual Postgraduate Conference for Veterinarians today at Michigan State University.

Dr. Quinn said the incidence of rabies in dogs has decreased considerably since 1940, mainly because of the efforts of the many local communities and counties which have passed mandatory rabies vaccination ordinances.

However, he noted, there are still many cases of rabies occurring, such as in foxes, skunks and other wild animals, and the only protection our animal pets have against being infected by these animals is to be vaccinated, he added.

"Present-day vaccines are very effective in immunizing dogs against this disease, and provide a practical barrier against them becoming infected," he emphasized.

Huge Jet First Flight Is Late

NEW YORK (AP) — After a delay of nearly seven hours and cancellations by 128 impatient passengers, a Boeing 747 jumbo jetliner has returned from London, completing its maiden transatlantic commercial round trip.

The Pan American World Airways jet arrived Thursday with 150 of the 278 passengers booked for the flight. It had carried 332 on its eastward flight out of a 362-passenger capacity.

The flight originally was due back at Kennedy Airport at 12:25 p.m. Thursday, but after a series of delays, lost an additional hour on the westward Atlantic flight and arrived seven hours late.

There were 128 passenger cancellations on the return trip, perhaps the greatest number ever compiled for a single airliner.

On the first leg of the trip, from New York to London, the flight was delayed more than six hours at Kennedy while passengers changed to a second 747 because an engine on the first overheated. Another hour was lost in London because of unloading problems.

Snakes are neither wet nor slimy. Actually, they are dry and warm.

Man, 26, Held In Area B&Es

Escanaba police have arrested a 26-year-old man in connection with six breaking and enterings and another attempted breaking and entering in the area in the past month.

David Ashley Turan, Rte. 1, Escanaba, was lodged in the Delta County jail after being brought to Escanaba by Det. John Robitaille from Marquette. Turan appeared in District Court today and requested the court to appoint an attorney for him.

He was remanded to the Delta County jail on a parole violation charge. Arraignment on the breaking and entering counts will be scheduled at a later date.

Robitaille said he interviewed Turan Thursday in Marquette where Turan was being held on the parole violation.

Turan was implicated by police in the following breaking and enterings:

Beneficial Finance Co., 1009 Ludington St., Dec. 24, 1969, where $140 to $160 was reported missing from a cabinet-type safe which had been forced open;

Liberty Loan Corp., 1217 Ludington St., attempted breaking and entering on Dec. 24 and breaking and entering on Jan. 12 in which the building was entered by breaking a bathroom window and a safe from the front of the office was rolled into the rear of the building where an attempt to gain entry was unsuccessful;

West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., Jan. 12, where an amount of change and several bottles of liquor were reported missing. Entry was gained by breaking a plate glass window at the front of the store, police said;

Needham Electric Co., 105 S. 10th St., Jan. 12, where $125 to $130 was taken from the till. Entry was gained by forcing a rear door;

Chatfield Machine Co., 718 Stephenson Ave., Jan. 12, where two screwdrivers were reported missing. Police said a window was broken to gain entry, and Hank's rocery Store, Ford River, Jan. 12, where about $16 in a change bag was missing. A rear door was forced open, police said.

Robitaille said the arrest of Turan came after an intensive investigation into the breaking and enterings.

Jury To Hear Gaming Story

DETROIT (AP) — A federal judge has denied a motion to prevent a special 23-member grand jury from hearing testimony from one of 14 men arrested in what the federal government says is a national gambling ring involving sports personalities.

Judge Fred W. Kaess ruled Thursday after hearing testimony in behalf of one of 14 persons arrested and charged with violating interstate gambling laws.

An attorney for Donald J. Dawson of Birmingham, Mich., who authorities said had $450,000 in cashier's checks and business checks when arrested New Year's Day, based his motion on the contention there was too much prejudicial publicity.

The attorney, Joseph B. Sullivan, also was turned down when he asked U.S. Judge Lawrence J. Gubow for an immediate pretrial examination for Dawson, rather than the grand jury session.

Government attorneys have not revealed when the jury would meet, although U.S. Attorney James Brickley said it was to have been convened this week.

The grand jury is to investigate allegations of sports betting at Lansing, Mich., New York City, Las Vegas, Nev., Phoenix, Ariz., Biloxi, Miss., and Detroit.

major messages he said he would be sending Congress. But he mentioned these proposals:

—A new system of financing for the purchase of open space and parklands "now, before they are lost to us."

—Development of a national growth policy to balance the nation's population, and to shape decisions on where to build highways, airports, even cities.

—Reforms "which will expand the range of opportunities for all Americans... Equal voting rights, equal employment opportunity and new opportunities for expanded ownership."

Nixon did not mention his dispute with Congress over the outlay for health and education during the current year.

Veto Opposed

Congress has approved $1.26 billion more than Nixon wants spent. The President has threatened to veto a pending appropriations bill because of it.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said if Nixon really wants the bipartisan bill, he should prove it by signing the bill.

Nixon said in his speech that more than 40 of his legislative proposals "still await enactment" in Congress.

The President will send a detailed foreign policy message to Congress later, probably early in February.

He also will have a statement on the possible withdrawal of more American troops from Vietnam sometime in April.

Nixon's address Wednesday was interrupted by applause 28 times. He delivered it in a matter-of-fact manner, with a minimum of gestures—and a constant gaze at the television camera in the House aisle before him.

The applause, predictably, came most frequently from the left side of the chamber, packed with Republicans.

Mrs. Nixon, in blue, was in the gallery. "I thought it was great," she said of her husband's performance.

nonhighway vehicles which affect environment.

Shoreline Zoning

Calling the Great Lakes shorelands "among Michigan's foremost natural resources," he recommended legislation to include shoreline zoning to control erosion. He also called for engineering studies and a comprehensive shoreland plan for Michigan.

As for litter, Milliken said he favors "an anti-littering message on all disposable containers and packages manufactured in the state" and also would support a bill requiring "litter containers in all vehicles using public highways."

He said he will invite leaders in business, government, labor, education and conservation to join him in an air tour in March over areas with the worst environmental problems.

The governor also said he will visit Michigan universities during the national environmental teach-in scheduled in April.

Milliken announced earlier Thursday he will meet with President Nixon and a number of other governors in Chicago Feb. 6 to discuss pollution problems of the Great Lakes.

STP, Raceways Planning Merger

CHICAGO (AP) — Andy Granatelli, president of STP Corp., and Lawrence H. LoPatin, president of American Raceways, have announced an agreement which could pave the way to a merger between STP and LoPatin's auto race track combine, a spokesman for LoPatin said in Detroit.

American Raceways would operate as a wholly owned subsidiary of STP under the terms of the proposed merger.

Granatelli has been prominently associated with auto racing for the past 24 years, STP Corp., which makes oil treatment products, sponsored the car in which Mario Andretti won the 1969 Indianapolis 500.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG

AP Newsfeatures Writer
An experienced wood finishing craftsman once offered us this advice:

"Never use shellac except on the kind of day you would take the family on a picnic."

In other words, on a clear dry day. It was—and is—advice well worth following. Applying shellac while it is raining—even though the work is being done indoors—is an almost certain way to produce a poor result. Since the air is laden with moisture, some of it mixes with the wet shellac and causes a clouding or whitening of the surface, a condition known as "blooming."

On such a day or when the humidity is high without any precipitation, it is best to put off the finishing chore to another time. But if this is not convenient, the task can be undertaken if the inside humidity is low, the room temperature is approximately 70 degrees Fahrenheit and there are no open windows. Since we have a standing rule never to do any wood finishing in an enclosure where there is no ventilation, even when the product being used is not generally considered toxic or volatile, our recommendation is to wait for that picnic-type day.

Shellac has remained popular over the years because of its versatility, ease of application and quick-drying properties.

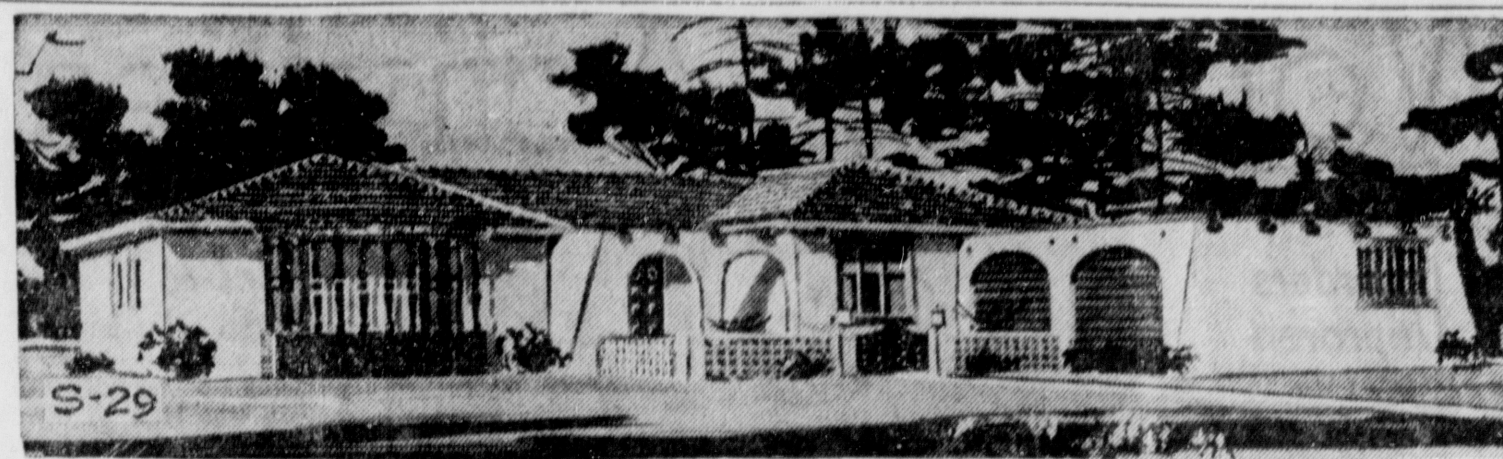

It can be used as a sealer or undercoater, using three parts of denatured alcohol to one part of shellac. Or it can be diluted 50-50 with denatured alcohol and used as a final finish. Once you have become acquainted with shellac and its many uses, you can experiment to find the mixture which best serves your purpose, since there are different schools of thought on how much denatured alcohol should be mixed with the shellac. One thing is certain: it should always be thinned, never used as it comes out of the container.

(You can get Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Wood Finishing in the Home," by sending 25 cents and a long stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P. O. Box 477, Huntington, N. Y. 11743.)

Because shellac begins to dry as soon as it is applied, you should work quickly with it. Flow it on without brushing it out completely as you might do with most paints. Orange shellac imparts a slight color to wood without hiding the grain. White shellac is generally preferred for most wood finishing because it is clear and almost colorless, not white as we know it in paint.

Never purchase shellac in large quantities. Buy only the smallest quantity necessary to do the job, unless you expect to use it again within a few weeks or so. It is inclined to deteriorate after a few months. This deterioration can be halted somewhat if you keep the shellac in the original container and protect it from air and sunlight. Never leave it standing overnight uncovered or in anything else than the original container.

NO NEED to point out that the exterior design of this three-bedroom house, with all the rooms on one floor, is of Spanish design, with a traditional courtyard, and effectively combining rough stucco with touches of wood and brick.

Authentic Spanish Styling

By ANDY LANG

A basic three-bedroom, one-story house has been given the old rancho treatment in this interesting design.

The exterior of rough stucco, turned wood posts, tapered walls and projecting beams is borrowed from the rancho and in the popular Spanish tradition. While the exterior architectural details and some of those on the inside adhere to the Spanish motif, the floor plan is arranged for present-day living, a central foyer leading directly to all rooms in the house. Architect William G. Chirgott has provided features for which modern buyers have SUNKEN LIVING ROOM, looking from the rear of it toward the front foyer. Three archways and rail separators create excellent first impression from entrance doorway.

S-29 STATISTICS

Design S-29 has a living room, dining room, family room, kitchen, dinette, laundry room, foyer, three bedrooms, two bathrooms and a lavatory, totaling 2145 square feet. It has a basement and a courtyard. The over-all dimensions are 75' by 58', which include the courtyard and a two-car garage.

shown a preference, including a fireplaced family room, both formal and informal eating areas, a laundry room adjacent to the kitchen, a main bathroom, a private bath for the master bedroom, and a powder room near the foyer.

The entrance is most impressive, with wrought iron gates leading to the front door through a private, typically Spanish courtyard. Straight ahead from the foyer is a sunken living room, with a ceiling 9' 4" high and with a full-height picture window overlooking the rear terrace or garden. Since it has only one entrance, the room can be maintained easily with no wear and tear from passing traffic.

To the right of the living room and also directly accessible from the foyer is the family room, with a stone-faced fireplace, bookshelves, wood-beamed ceiling and a sliding door unit to the rear. Quite likely to be the most popular room in the house.

A somewhat unusual design touch is the location of the dining room, which is at the front of the house and across the foyer from the living room. It is highly practical for serving formal dinner guests because it adjoins the kitchen, which has a dinette of its own for family breakfasts and informal meals. There are two windows in the kitchen-dinette, one over the sink and a mullion type in the eating section. At the opposite end of the working area of the kitchen is the laundry room, with one door leading to the outside and another to the two-car garage. Three bedrooms and two bathrooms comprise the left wing of the house. The master bedroom bath has a tiled shower stall and a full-length mirrored vanity. The main bathroom is compartmentalized, with a dressing vanity flanked by full-height towel and accessory cabinets.

FLOOR PLANS: No problems with this floor layout. Entrance foyer leads directly to living room, family room, dining room, kitchen-dinette and three bedrooms with no cross-traffic. Note how kitchen serves the dinette and the dining room equally well.

There is a clothes closet in the foyer. A stairway leads to a basement, which could be used for a recreation room and workshop in addition to the necessary utilities.

With its attractive exterior and practical interior, this house is for the family that wants the conveniences of today wrapped in a cloak of yesterday.

HERE'S THE ANSWER

By ANDY LANG

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Q.—I want to put a plastic laminate top on an old but still sound coffee table. I know there are various fancy ways to apply edging to the table, but I'd like to make it as simple as possible and believe this can be done by nailing molding strips around the edges. My question is whether the plastic laminate should be applied first and then the molding strips attached, or whether the molding should be put on first?

A.—Either way is acceptable, depending on which edges you want to show. If the molding is applied first, make sure the plastic laminate is cut large enough to cover the molding as well as the regular table top. If flat molding is to be applied last, the edges of it will face upwards and be visible. But you can avoid this by using a half-round or some other similar molding. Don't forget that you can buy a rolled-up wooden edging or cut strips of the plastic laminate.

Q.—On a small section of the wall at the rear of our house, the paint has a lot of blisters on it. The house was painted about two years ago, and the paint on the rest of it is still in good condition. What is causing the blisters in that one small section?

A.—It sounds very much as though the troublesome wall section is by a bathroom. This happens often when the bathroom, a constant source of moisture, is not properly vented to permit the high humidity to escape. As a result, the moisture forces its way behind the bathroom wall and then pushes its way through the outer wall. Since it can't get through the paint too easily, it eventually results in blisters and peeling. If you intend to repaint that section of the house, whether now or when painting the entire structure, first find a way to permit the moisture to get out of the bathroom without going through the wall. You can do this with the use of an exhaust fan, by placing small vents in the wall, or, occasionally, by keeping the window open as much as possible but especially when someone is taking a shower or bath.

Link Between Pill, Disorders Still Unproven

WASHINGTON (AP) — Claims that birth control pills cause liver damage, diseases of the veins and arteries or diabetes are at present only "theoretical speculation," a Senate subcommittee was told today.

Dr. William Spellacy of the University of Miami school of medicine, said, however, there appears to be solid evidence the pill can aggravate existing liver and vein disorders.

Spellacy, an associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology, commented in testimony prepared for the fifth and final session of the Senate monopoly subcommittee's current hearings into safety of the pill.

The subcommittee, chaired by Democrat Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, plans further hearings in the coming months but none have been scheduled.

Of 17 witnesses heard besides Spellacy in the past two weeks, the majority have reported—and emphasized—suspected links between the pill and numerous disorders ranging from nausea and headaches to heart trouble, liver damage, strokes, diabetes and cancer of the breast, cervix and uterus.

No witness claimed hard proof of such relationships and Spellacy said to "find these answers will require large in-depth prospective studies of each organ system... at many dosages and drug combinations carried out for many years in a variety of different environments on many types of people."

Reviewing studies done on the effect of oral contraceptives on the liver, Spellacy said several of the organ's functions are altered by oral contraceptives.

This was particularly true, he said, in the use of the synthetic female hormone estrogen. The hormone, a component of many oral contraceptives, was singled out by witnesses as a prime suspect in many disorders. Pills containing a high percentage of estrogen have been abandoned in Great Britain.

But, he added, "there is no answer to the query of will permanent liver damage result from the use of the oral contraceptives."

Furthermore, he said, "it should be pointed out that no deaths have been reported from liver disease in women using oral contraceptives."

Spellacy said a number of studies have indicated the pill can cause a prediabetic condition, but none has proved diabetes will result.

The important unanswered questions, he said, are whether such changes are reversible and whether they are actually harmful.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Barron of Rte. 1, Gladstone, of the engagement of their daughter, Judith Rae, to Michael LaFleur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred LaFleur, 1813 Ludington St. The bride-elect is a 1966 graduate of Holy Name High School and will receive a B. ## Seney

Cribbage Club
The first meeting of the season of the Seney-Germfask Cribbage Club was held Wednesday evening at the Seney Townhall. Twelve members attended with the men winning the first round.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Sadier and family of Detroit visited here over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Sadler.

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Niemi have returned from Doniphan, Mo. where they visited with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Al Bryan and family.

Seney Bar Burns
The Seney Bar, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pelton caught fire early Monday morning, apparently from an overheated floor furnace. The entire inside was gutted and only the building shell remains. Fire departments from Germfask and Curtis were called and were assisted by many volunteers.

Clear through and through are new kitchen helpers bringing the see-through look so popular in home furnishings into the kitchen. Cutting boards, cake knives, pie servers in lucite, plexiglas and acrylic plastics are strikingly handsome.

Gernreich Look For '70's Is Nude, Bald

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When she wails, "I have nothing to wear," the 1970s woman may mean it. She may be nude—and bald.

So says fashion's fad-making designer Rudi Gernreich. Remember his topless swimsuit of the '60s?

Gernreich gave fashion editors first peek at his "statement for the '70s" in an art gallery showing Tuesday. Although his topless swimsuits didn't catch on, his crystal ball vision for the '70s was nudity for the young, total coverage for the old and unisex for everybody via shaved heads.

"I think this will simplify things," said Gernreich as his two models—male and female—stripped. "It will take our minds off how we look and let us concentrate on important matters."

With their heads shaved, the models, Tom Broome, 31, and Renee Holt, 22, resembled plaster mannequins.

"It's an incredible physical sensation," said Broome, a once-blond Englishman. "The first night my head was shaved, it itched. It was such a feeling of liberation."

"I wanted to make a statement of freedom, not sexuality," said Gernreich. "The '60s were sexy. That was still a hang-up. So let the '70s be sensual and rational."

His futuristic collection bows to the timid by including helmets and wigs—"things that will remind us what hair used to be like."

In old age, Gernreich prescribes total body coverage under floor-length robes in bold, bright prints with flowing

Mike's Writing Project Becomes Camping Trip

Michael R. Olson, in his first year of teaching at the Heavrich School in Saginaw was recently the subject of a feature article in the Sunday Saginaw News. Mike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard (Gump) Olson, 627 S. 17th St., took his sixth grade class on a special camping trip.

It all started as part of a creative writing project, according to Mike, but it became more.

Mike said he got the idea when he realized the students had trouble writing about an abstract topic. To quote the News, "Why not take them camping, he thought. He knew many of them never had ridden a horse, been boating or attended a summer camp."

"So at 8:30 one morning he loaded 14 girls and 11 boys onto a chartered school bus and headed for Camp Ohivesa, south of Flint. Two mothers went with them."

"Miles had no meaning for the students. Everytime the bus slowed down, they thought they had arrived," said Olson.

The students boated, rode horseback, took nature hikes, worked in a natural science lesson about toads, and even learned a bit of map reading. Mike had spent four previous summers as a counselor at the camp.

The class followed up the trip with original writings, including poetry. Mike says, "the trip was just as much fun for me as it was for the kids." He enjoyed seeing the class enthusiasm over new experiences.

Mike enjoys teaching, according to his parents, and particularly likes the age level of the sixth grade.

With Mike Utt

Those bowling secretaries will do anything to get their name in the paper. This time it was Charley Landmark, secretary of the American League at the Midway Lanes in Gladstone, who rolled a 700 series with games of 214, 267 and 219 last week. Other high scorers in that league were Larry Cantin 200-226-203-629; Harold Kleiman 202-201-221-624; George Johnson 235-601; Bernard Johnson 224, Loun Burton 201, Mike Demitz 214, Maurice Lavigne 205, Allan Gillis 211, Jim Yirsa 207 and Jim Levelle 203.

X X X

A pair of women bowlers went over the 600 mark this week. Pat Johnston pulled the feat Thursday night at the Bowl-A-Rama with games of 211 and 236 for a 612 and Bernadette Verhamme was the first woman to roll a 600 series at Gladstone this season with games of 182, 204 and 246 in a 632 in the Wednesday Late League at the Midway Lanes.

X X X

June Baum had another big night for Clairmont's in the Holiday Thursday Night League, rolling games of 200, 203 and 155 for a 558 series. Also scoring big that night were Betty Gauthier 203 and Arlene Kriz, a 126 average bowler who rolled a 503 series.

X X X

The Pabst Beer team in the City League at the Bowl-A-Rama came up with a nice game Monday night. The five bowlers only have a 786 team average, but they came through with a 969 game. Willy Whitburn and Mickey Olsen led the way with a pair of 205 games and Len Boudreau had a 190, Bob Therrian 188 and Charlie Perryman 181.

This was the week for the low-average bowlers to shine again. Sue Burklund, a 112 average bowler in the Tuesday Early Bird League at the Holiday Bowl, picked up the 3-7-10 split in her 174 game and just missed an all-spares game with a blow in the tenth frame. Lee Beech, a 148 average bowler in the Sunday Moonlighters League at the Bowl-A-Rama, bowled games of 242 and 212 in a 594 series, and last, but not least, is Evora Schaefer, who carries a 122 average in the Continental Wednesday Night League and came up with a 204.

X X X

Only six 500 series have been bowled in the Tuesday Early Bird League at the Holiday Bowl and four of them came this week. Karen Christensen, a 137 average bowler, had a 191-535; Stevie Severson, a 150 average holder, had 191-532; Lorna Cutler, who has a 146 average, had 199-506 and Flossie Poquette, 135 average, had 507.

This sure has been the week for the league secretaries. Sally Roman, who does the bookwork for the Sunday Moonlighters at the Bowl-A-Rama, rolled a 136 triplicate this week.

X X X

Some more firsts were recorded in the Junior League bowling at the Bowl-A-Rama Saturday afternoon. Terry Thompson had his first game over 100 in the Bantam Kids with a 106 while Debbie Leonard and Linda Laviolette went over 100 for the first time with 120-110 and 100 respectively. Bowlers getting their first 400 series in the Junior and Senior League were Mike Rian 404 and Ray Porath 402. Skip Crawford just missed a triplicate with games of 160, 160 and 161.

Split Pickers: John Grels 6-7-10, Lorraine Briere 2-10, Mary Graham 6-8-10, Nora Sarasin 2-5-7, Dean Hengesh 8-10, Mary Heitman 6-8-10, Jim Scheuren 6-7, Dick Puddy 7-8-10, Bernie Brawley 3-4-7, Walt Anderson 5-6-10, Jim Allen 4-5-7, Joan Seckinger 6-7-10, Bob Villeneuve 3-7, Joyce Erickson 3-7, Rose Randall 5-7-9, Bee Eleger 2-10, Harold Olsen 7-8, Hank Kobas 6-7-10, Nels Watz 3-7, Jerry Koch 6-7, Louise Orzel 5-8-10, Inez Wolfgang 4-7-10, Jim Moyle 3-6-7-10, Phil Sarasin 4-9-10, Charlie Perryman 4-5-7 and Betty Nelson 5-8-10.

Milwaukee, Dallas Bidding For Pilots

SEATTLE (AP) — Deadlines by the dozen dance by, rumors roll about, and threats of lawsuits trumpet the start of a white paper war, but the Seattle Pilots are still in Seattle.

For the moment, But that moment won't last much longer, William R. Daley, majority stockholder of the American League expansion club said Thursday. The club "is no longer rooted in Seattle," he declared.

Daley, former president of the Cleveland Indians, made the statement Thursday when a group headed by Seattle businessman Fred Danz couldn't meet a 2 p.m. deadline to refinance a $3.2 million loan made by the Bank of California to Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., the Pilots' corporate body.

Up For Grabs Now the franchise "is up for grabs," Daley said in his home town of Cleveland. The two cities doing the grabbing are Dallas and Milwaukee.

Lamar Hunt, owner of the pro football champion Kansas City Chiefs, and Texas magnate Tommy Mercer forlornly applied for the franchise. They issued a statement when the deadline passed saying, "We have submitted an application to the (American) league for the transfer of the Seattle franchise to the Dallas-Fort Worth area. It is our understanding that a league meeting has been called for Jan. 27 in Oakland, Calif., and it is our plan to present our facts to the league members at that meeting."

Rumors Fly During the day a story appeared in a Houston newspaper saying the 11 other American League owners had held an informal telephone poll and settled on Dallas. On the other hand, a Chicago newspaper said a deal already had been made for the Pilots to go to a Milwaukee group headed by "Bud" Selig for $11 million.

In Boston, meanwhile, American League President Joe Cronin said he hadn't received any letter from Hunt, but would comment no further on Thursday's developments.

"The American League has no other choice but to move the franchise. How can a transfer be avoided?" Daley asked. "The league has given Seattle every chance, but the city has not been able to raise the money. So there is no other choice."

Tuesday Deadline Danz, meanwhile, said Cronin assured him that no action would be taken until Tuesday's meeting. However Danz' group has been unable to raise the money to pay the loan since the problem arose shortly after the league had approved the original sale agreement for a reported $10.5 million in December. Prospects that any Seattle group would come up with the money to buy the club by Tuesday appeared absolutely minimal.

If Seattle seemed doomed to lose the franchise on the financial front, it certainly appeared willing to fight for it in the courts. Seattle Mayor Wes Uhlman said Thursday he has signed legal complaints and the city is ready to move into court if the league attempts to move the club.

File Complaints

He said that in addition to three different complaints he had "additional action" which he could not disclose. The three complaints against either the league or the club ownership, or both, could be:

—action for breach of lease agreement.

—action for actual damages of around $3 million spent by the city on Sicks' Stadium, the Pilots' interim ballpark.

—action for triple damages under antitrust laws.

"That's not going to help them," Daley said about the possible suits.

But Daley stressed that neither he nor the league wanted the Pilots to leave Seattle. "The league," he said, "has given the city every opportunity to come forward and solve the financial crisis. But the business community of Seattle, including their banks, were not able to do it and the result is that the American League has no other choice but to move."

Wings Do Well, But Hawks Win

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings looked like a first-place team Thursday night. But their hustling performance wasn't enough to keep them from falling into a fourth place tie with Chicago in the East Division of the National Hockey League as the Black Hawks edged Detroit 4-3.

In other games Boston and Philadelphia tied 3-3. St. Louis edged New York 4-3, Montreal downed Minnesota 4-2, and Toronto edged Los Angeles 3-2. Detroit had 47 shots on goal, including 22 in the final period. But the fine goaltending of rookie Tony Esposito thwarted any hope that Detroit would pull the game out of the fire.

Chicago went ahead 2-0 on a pair of goals by Pit Martin in the first period and never trailed. Martin also assisted on a goal by Bobby Hull in the third period.

Howe scored his 16th goal of the season on a power play at 6:50 of the second period. The puck apparently stuck between Esposito's pads as he sprawled in front of the net.

But referee Tom Smith ruled that the puck had gone far enough into the net.

Esposito and Stan Mikita threw down their gloves in bitter protest but to no avail. Mikita, a former Lady Byng Trophy winner as the most gentlemanly player in the league, subsequently was given a 10 minute misconduct penalty.

Dennis Hull scored Chicago's third goal and his 11th at 14:34 of the second period by beating Roy Edwards, who had replaced Roger Crozier in the Detroit

Great Northern Matmen Compete Here Saturday

Plenty of action will be in store for sports fans in the Escanaba area this Saturday at the Escanaba Area High School gymnasium when the Escanaba Eskymos play host to the Great Northern Conference Wrestling Tournament.

The event is scheduled to get underway with the weigh-in at 2 p. m., followed by the seeding at 3 and the first round matches at 3:30. Consolation matches are scheduled to get underway at 5 and the finals are slated for 7:30 in the evening.

Iron Mountain has been tabbed as the early favorite to capture championship honors in the event, with Escanaba given an outside chance at the title. The Mountaineers are unbeaten in seven outings this season, including a 36-10 victory over the Eskymos Monday night.

Iron Mountain holds the lead in the conference standings to date with a 3-0 record, followed by Escanaba with a 2-1 mark, Kingsford 1-2 and Holy Name 0-3.

Each wrestler in the tourney will receive one point for a fall, default, forfeit or advancement and points in the weight classes will be awarded on the basis of 10 points for a champion, 7 for runnerup and 4 for third place. Last year's event finished in a three-way tie for first place between Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Kingsford, all with 79 points, and Holy Name trailed with 20.

All but four wrestlers in the 12 weight classes will be back to defend their individual titles. Champions returning are Mike Pancheri of Iron Mountain (98), Jeff Nepper of Iron Mountain (115), Bill Amundsen of Kingsford (123), Dale Ford of Escanaba (130), John Roberts of Iron Mountain (145), Paul Sauter of Iron Mountain (155), Terry Scheenemen of Escanaba (175) and Duane Scheuren of Escanaba (185).

Iron Mountain will send seven wrestlers into the tournament with unbeaten records. Pancheri, Russ Percosoli, Mark Ellingson, Roberts and Sauter all have 7-0 records while Nepper is 6-0 and Rick Powell is 4-0-1.

Kingsford and Holy Name have nobody undefeated, but each has wrestlers who have only lost once. Holy Name's main hopes rest with Jim DeGrand (8-1) and Bill Beauvais (7-2), while the Flivvers are counting on Joe Brey, John Brooks and Ed Burby, all 6-1. Scheuren, Escanaba's unbeaten 185-pounder, has a 9-0 mark in regular season matches and has pinned seven of his opponents and won his other two matches on a forfeit and a default. Other top wrestlers in the tourney for the Eskymos will be Mike Makosky (7-1-1), Ford (7-1-1), Neil VanDrese (7-1), Mike Blazek (6-2-1), Scheenemen (7-2) and Lynn Collins (7-2).

Admission for the event will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students per session. The gymnasium will be cleared following the afternoon session and the doors will reopen before the championship matches. Fans attending the tourney are asked to use the west parking lot and enter through the west side of the gym.

Dave Wilson of Escanaba and Gene Ersland of Menominee will act as referees for the tourney.

Everybody kicks around Baltimore teams except the Detroit Pistons.

The Jets knocked off the Colts, the Mets killed the Orioles, but the Baltimore Bullets whipped the Pistons for the 15th straight time in the National Basketball Association Thursday night.

West Unseld and Earl Monroe scored 22 points each to lead the Bullets to a 119-115 victory at Syracuse, N. Y.

In other NBA play Thursday, Milwaukee beat San Diego 115-106, Phoenix downed Seattle 129-124, and Cincinnati outscored Boston 111-104.

Bing, Bill Hewitt and McCoy McLemore combined for ten points late in the final period to close the gap to 105-107. In the last two minutes of play, the Pistons were within three points and two points of a tie, but two missed free throws by Bing and another by Walt Bellamy were costly.

Elvin Hayes tallied 29 points to Lew Alcindor's 27 but Alcindor's Milwaukee Bucks defeated Hayes and the San Diego Rockets in the second game of an NBA doubleheader spectacular in the Astrodome.

It was the fifth time this season for Milwaukee to defeat San Diego in league play. In the four previous games Alcindor, a rookie, outscored Hayes 36-21, 23-14, 22-27 and 35-25.

Hayes, a former University of Houston great, outscored Alcindor, a former UCLA All-American, although Hayes routed out on the final play of the third period. Hayes was leading 29-19 when he fouled out.

In American Basketball Association play, Pittsburgh nipped New Orleans 113-111, Miami topped Los Angeles 115-100 and Denver topped Washington 130-121.

Oscar Robertson scored 19 of his 40 points in leading Cincinnati's fourth-period surge as the Royals snapped a six-game losing straight against the Cincinnati outscored Boston 15-2 in the last four minutes. Jo Jo White scored 23 for the Celtics who had a four-game losing string snapped.

Down by 12 points in the first period, Phoenix came from behind to beat Seattle at Loas Cruces, N. M. the Suns went ahead for good on Art Harris' one-hander in the second period. Harris led Phoenix with 24 points.

Land Use Class Opens On Feb. 3

A short course in land use for small landowners in Schoolcraft County has been scheduled for February and March. The course will cover basic land use practices for forested and other wild land. Topics relating to forestry, wildlife, water, minerals, aesthetics and other land uses will be covered, according to an announcement from Howard Handorf, MSU County Extension Director.

Class meetings are set for four Tuesday evenings on Feb. 3, 17, 24 and March 3. Classes will meet in the Manistique High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

All interested persons are invited to enroll and this can be done by attending the first class. The course is designed for persons who own from a few to several hundred acres of land. There is no fee for the course.

The sessions will cover basic characteristics of soil, water and forests and their influence on land use; mineral rights of landowners; the ecological origin of our forests; game habitat improvement practices, timber management practices and tree planting; the landowners' right to water use; problems of water pollution; laws relating to water rights; the use of timber sales contracts to sell timber; the Commercial Forest Reserve Act; and a special state law pertaining to the taxing of forest land.

Assistance programs will be explained at the last meeting by public agency and organization representatives. Resource personnel will be available from the Soil Conservation District, Department of Natural Resources, Farmer's Home Administration, Agricultural Stabilization and Soil Conservation Commission, U.S. Forest Service and the Michigan Tree Farm Program.

Michigan State University instructors for the course are Donald R. Christenson, extension specialist in soil science; Ray B. Gummerson, district extension leader in natural resources; and Roy E. Skog, extension specialist in forestry. A DNR game biologist will discuss game habitat improvement.

Harold Carlson Will Not Seek Reelection

With two city council seats up for grabs in the April 6 city spring election, incumbent Harold Carlson announced Thursday he will not seek reelection while Councilman Thor Reque said he was "undecided" if he will run.

Carlson has served on the pleting his first four year term as councilman. He was Mayor during 1966-68 and sat on the County Board of Supervisors for three years and served as chairman of the Welfare and Education Committees.

Reque said he would announce his decision "sometime within the next week or so." He makes his home at 631 Oak St.

Feb. 2 Deadline

Feb. 16 is the deadline for filing nominating petitions for the two seats open on the City Council, city clerk Ralph Ekstrom said. Blanks may be obtained from his office at City Hall Monday thru Friday from 8-5 p.m. The election will be held April 6.

The city charter requires that any candidate be a city resident for the past two years; be a registered elector as of the date the petition is filed; and that a petition, signed by 50 registered voters, be filed with the city clerk by 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Feb. 16.

The two council terms are for four years each.

Council for the past 12 years, a full three terms, and also served as Mayor for two terms: 1958-59 and 1962-63. Concurrent with his council duties, Carlson also was city representative to the County Board of Supervisors for 11 years. He was Board Chairman in 1961 and chaired the Airport and Medical Care Facility committees.

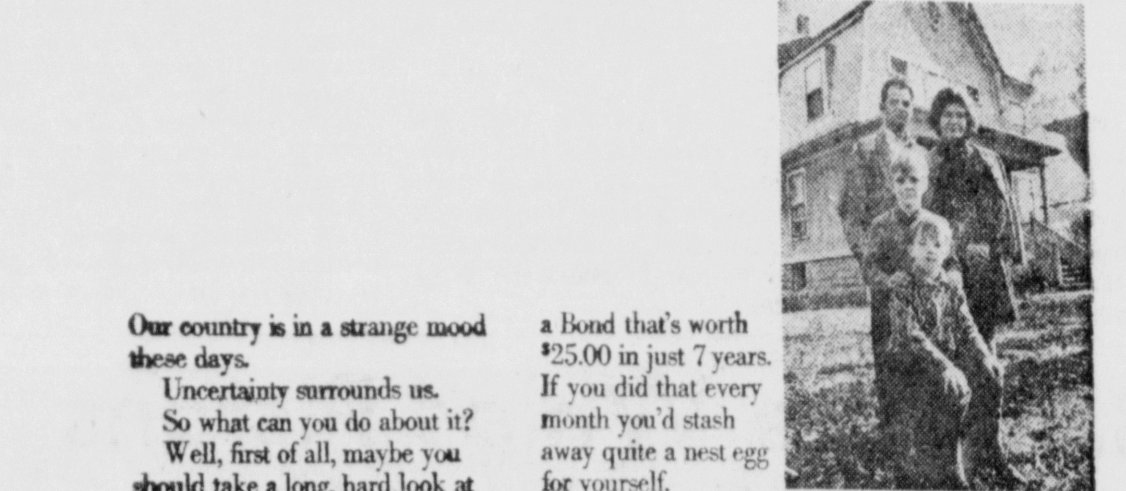

Carlson, who lives at 537 N. Houghton Ave., has been an Inland Lime and Stone Company employee since 1941.

Reque, who retired last June after 42 years as a teacher, including 32 years in the Manistique school system, is com-

President of the local chapter is Graham "Pete" Widdis; Jack Weinert, vice president; John Gauthier, treasurer; and Peter Denman, secretary.

The local chapter is also honored to have a member in the Junior Chamber International, an organization with 82 countries in membership. Richard Keteik is a JCI Senator, the highest honor awarded any Jaycee.

A message to those Americans who don't happen to think the land of milk and honey is going all sour.

Our country is in a strange mood these days. Uncertainty surrounds us. So what can you do about it? Well, first of all, maybe you should take a long, hard look at this country of ours. Maybe we should look at our healthy side as well as our ills. And maybe, just maybe, you'll find we're not all that bad. Sure we have our problems. And they're not going to go away if you just stand along the sidelines as a spectator. But they might start to go away if you seriously want to do something for your country. A U.S. Savings Bond is one way. Let's say you fork over $18.75 of your hard-earned cash. Through a Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or at your bank. That will give you a Bond that's worth $25.00 in just 7 years. If you did that every month you'd stash away quite a nest egg for yourself. And so would your country. Your country would be economically stronger to find remedies for some of the headaches we have. While it's preserving something called freedom. Something that's hard to appreciate. Until you lose it. Savings Bonds now have a new high interest rate of 4 1/2%. And buying them gives you the privilege of also buying the even higher interest 5% Freedom Shares in combination. However you look at it, it simply makes a lot of sense to invest in your country. After all, it's the only country you've got.

Auto Inventory At Record High

DETROIT (AP) — U. S. auto sales fell 18 per cent in mid-January as new car inventories continued at record peaks despite production cutbacks. American Motors was the only firm to report a gain.

General Motors led the sales dive with a drop of 24.4 per cent from the second 10 days of January a year earlier. GM reported sales of 80,465 for the period this year, compared to 107,030 in 1969. So far this year GM has sold 204,083 cars compared to 148,520 in 1969.

Industry sales for the Jan. 11-20 period totaled 159,302 this year compared to 193,736 in the same period a year ago. There were eight selling days both years.

The industry so far in 1970 is lagging some 20 per cent behind the figures of a year earlier: 297,906 to 371,932.

American Motors Corp., enjoyed the only sales gains during the period with 5,589 new car deliveries compared to 5,083

Uninsured Driver Pacts Made With States, Provinces

LANSING (AP) — Michigan has signed agreements with two other states and three Canadian provinces to provide financial protection for accidents involving uninsured drivers.

Michigan Secretary of State James Hare and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley jointly announced the agreements with New York and Maryland and the Canadian provinces of Alberta, Quebec and Ontario.

As a result of the agreements, a Michigan resident who is injured or suffers property damage by an uninsured motorist can be compensated up to the limits provided by Michigan law.

These are up to $10,000 for bodily injury for any one person in any one accident, $20,000 for bodily injury for any number of persons in any one accident and $5,000 for property damage with a $200 deductible clause.

The same protection will be offered to residents of the two states and three provinces while they are in Michigan.

NO FINGERPRINTS — Members of the same family hold up their hands to display lack of fingerprints in Casnovia, N. Y., a fact discovered by the State Identification and Intelligence System. Rear: Chris Hale, 15, Mrs. Jennie Smith, Gilbert Hale. Front: Patricia Smith, 14, and Judy Hale, 11. Judy and Chris are children of Gilbert Hale, Mrs. Smith is Hale's mother. Patricia is Hale's half sister and daughter of Mrs. Smith. Experts say the odds against such a physical development are "infinite."

New TV Series Not Sensational

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — The last two of ABC's five midseason replacements had their premiere programs Thursday night. Neither seems likely to light up the nation's small screens.

George Hamilton, the sole survivor of "The Survivors," is now Jack Brennan, an intense young trouble shooter helping tourists as he works out of the American embassy in "Paris 7000."

His first assignment was to protect the reputation of a newly appointed Supreme Court justice on his first visit to France since 1943. Upon arrival with his wife, the jurist was slipped a note by an evil looking creature. It threatened to reveal to the world the existence of an illegitimate daughter, born during the war, if he did not hand over 500,000 francs.

"It Was A Bore"

Energetic and dead pan Brennan scurried around, tracking members of the French Resistance, visiting the police and frequenting colorful Left Bank dives. He occasionally said "oui" or "merci" to add to the color which is quite obviously Hollywood back-lot Paris. Even the window of Jack's office in the embassy looks out on the Eiffel Tower, a neat geographic trick.

It was a story that was as artificial and contrived as the background and, worst of all, was a bore.

"Pat Paulsen's Half a Comedy Hour" did not add up to even a tenth of a comedy hour. There were not, in fact, many chuckles in the 30 minutes.

The comedian seemed extremely uncomfortable working through a collection of poorly constructed skits, but not as uncomfortable as some of his guests.

Thomas Returning

Hubert H. Humphrey, for instance, seemed at a loss in one. We were asked to believe that Paulsen's car stalled in the dead of winter in front of the Humphrey's Minnesota home and Paulsen, who was in light summer clothes, sought help. The humor, apparently, was the sight of Paulsen shivering because the former vice president kept his visitor outside and even closed the door in his face a couple of times.

Debbie Reynolds appeared in a sketch with Paulsen playing the warden of a prison. Debbie was a tough lady lifer who poured hot coffee on the warden, smashed his glasses and even hurled his pet parakeet out the window.

Paulsen's closing was a mock tearful plea to the "Nielsen folk" to watch the show another time. Maybe Pat better run for public office again.

Danny Thomas has signed with ABC to return next season in another situation comedy. It will be called "Make Room for Granddaddy," and if his special of the same name last fall is a clue, he will pick up the "Make Room for Daddy" characters as they have grown older, with the kids starting families of their own.
